

Miners Vote To Continue Their Strike

Support Demands For Changes In New UMW Pact

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—United Mine Workers from West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania have decided to continue striking to support demands for changes in the UMW's new contract.

Some 1,500 union members voted overwhelmingly to follow that course at a packed meeting here Wednesday. They also decided to set up a group of roving pickets in a bid to spread the protest to other mining operations.

Later, however, an official of a UMW local in Washington County, Pa., said employees of four mines in that county voted among themselves to go back to work.

Members from 47 locals in five UMW districts jammed the 970-seat Temple Theater for the heated session here at which one man suffered a fatal heart attack. Even the aisles and lobby were packed.

John DePrato, 55, of Burgettstown, Pa., collapsed and died after making a spirited protest against the seniority clause in the soft coal industry pact signed in Washington last week.

Seniority, vacation and holiday provisions were main targets of the protest which as of Tuesday had idled 4,300 miners.

Wednesday was John Mitchell Day, a miner's holiday established in the name of an early organizer who helped the union obtain an eight-hour day.

Karl Krafton, president of Local 1110, Moundsville, W. Va., presided at the three-hour meeting at which two dozen persons spoke against provisions in the contract.

Lawyer Given Suspension In Hancock Case

NEW CUMBERLAND — Hancock County Circuit Judge James G. McClure Wednesday suspended indefinitely the license of Weirton Atty. Morton H. Rosenshine.

The suspension came after the 29-year-old lawyer pleaded no contest to a charge of appropriating $3,600 from Woodrow Childers of Weirton.

Rosenshine was accused in a complaint by the Hancock County Bar of professional misconduct and malpractice.

Tuesday, Rosenshine offered to resign his membership in the West Virginia State Bar in a petition filed with the State Supreme Court.

He also has been named in warrants charging grand larceny and embezzlement of funds totaling almost $9,000 from residents of Weirton and New Cumberland since October 1961.

Childers testified that he gave a check to Rosenshine in May 1960 for almost $11,000 which he understood was to be used to pay off a loan at the Hancock County Federal Savings & Loan in Chester.

The Weirton man testified concerning the financial transaction after he had purchased a home with Rosenshine's aid.

Henry O. Tarr of Weirton, seller of the house, also testified. James E. Elliott, executive vice president of the Chester institution, testified regarding records pertaining to the $11,000 mortgage.

He said the money was borrowed by Tarr on Jan. 6, 1959, and the loan finally was paid off last Feb. 4.

The institution's records, Elliott said, showed periodic payments were made by Rosenshine from May 1960 to September 1963, when the loan became delinquent and the institution notified Tarr, who in turn called Childers.

Two Incisions Necessary

Gen. MacArthur's Heart, Kidney Function Waning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur has suffered a "further waning" of his heart and kidney function, Walter Reed Army Hospital announced today.

A bulletin at 10:16 a.m. said continuing deterioration of the five-star general's kidney function has necessitated institution of a semi-artificial means of stimulating kidney function. The technique involves making two incisions in MacArthur's abdomen and inserting two tubes.

The purpose is to attempt to wash out from the general's blood poisonous materials which cannot be efficiently filtered out by his own faltering kidney system.

The procedure is technically known as "peritoneal dialysis." It involves continuous running of liquid chemicals, somewhat similar to those used by the kidneys, through one of the tubes into a cavity between two blood-filled membranes within the abdomen which are known as the "peritoneum."

The resulting products are pumped out through the other tube.

The new downturn followed a terse and gloomy report from the doctors Wednesday that the outlook was not good.

That was the last report Wednesday when doctors had noted a slight improvement in the 84-year-old general's lowered blood pressure and control of the troublesome and sporadic internal bleeding.

Asked flatly if the general would recover, Dr. Henry S. Murphey, a brigadier general and hospital commandant answered: "We hope so."

The tube which had been inserted through MacArthur's esophagus and into his stomach remained in place. But the pressure of a small balloon against broken veins — designed to retard bleeding in the esophagus — was all but removed.

"He is markedly composed—has asked for his wife many times and she has visited him frequently," Murphey said.

Most critical still were signs early Wednesday that MacArthur's heart was losing efficiency and his kidney function was worsening. Even the slight improvement in blood pressure during the day was not enough to add optimism to the late report.

Doctors explained that they had stand-by methods of taking over for the failing kidneys if it became necessary. But a heightened pulse rate and the faltering blood pressure—signs the heart was working harder, but doing its job less well—were still worrisome.

One way of making up for the failing kidneys is a technique called peritoneal dialysis. This is an operation in which two tubes are inserted into the abdominal cavity between blood vessel rich membranes called peritoneum.

Chemicals are then fed in through one tube. They draw out some of the waste products and compounds accumulating in the blood — substances that would have been removed by the kidneys.

Then the flushing chemicals and waste products are drawn out through the other tube, completing the circuit.

Through Wednesday afternoon, doctors had not felt pressed into using this or other artificial kidney techniques — but they were carefully watching the status of MacArthur's blood for signs that it might be necessary.

They continue to feed drugs into the general's veins to raise the blood pressure and to "encourage" the kidneys.

Lot Of Work Remains

Anchorage Has Air Of Normalcy

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An air of normalcy has returned to the streets of Anchorage, but here and elsewhere in Alaska a lot of work remains before the devastation of last Friday's earthquake is repaired.

Today, as they continued the monumental task of clearing debris and trying to get schools, transportation facilities and the economy functioning, Alaskans were cheered by the news President Johnson has ordered quick federal aid for the stricken state.

The President said Wednesday he would ask Congress for $50 million in emergency relief funds.

Gov. William A. Egan, who plans to meet with President Johnson in Washington, probably Monday, says he will ask for $500 million in federal aid. Robert G. Baker, president of Matanuska Valley Bank, says he thinks the request should be for $1 billion.

Both men said the money should be grants, no loans, so that hard-hit individuals and businesses will not be burdened by additional debt.

Egan told a late evening news conference he would ask the legislature, which reconvenes after an earthquake recess Friday, to vote a $50-million bond issue — more than double the state's present bonded indebtedness.

"This will exemplify our willingness to do everything possible, to make every sacrifice, to begin pulling ourselves up by our own bootstraps as much as financially possible."

The massive tremor crippled business and industry in Anchorage, Alaska's largest city, and virtually wiped them out in Seward, Valdez and Kodiak.

One of the biggest immediate problems is getting the youngsters back in school.

Of Anchorage's two high schools, one was so badly damaged it cannot be used until major repairs are completed. One elementary school was destroyed. Double shifts are planned at the other high school and at another grade school.

"We hope to have some, maybe all, of the schools open early next week," says Dr. Don Dafeo, superintendent.

Johnson Goal $50 Million To Aid Alaska

Picks Special Unit To Plan Recovery Of Stricken State

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named a special commission to plan rehabilitation of the earthquake-ravaged Alaskan economy and he will ask Congress for $50 million for emergency relief.

Both decisions were announced Wednesday by the White House after Johnson conferred with Alaska's senators, Democrats E. L. Bartlett and Ernest Gruening, and by telephone — with William A. Egan, governor of the stricken state.

The $50-million appropriation is generally viewed as a first-step measure to help rebuild vital roads, bridges, utilities and other publicly owned facilities. To the three Alaskans it is a bare one-tenth of the federal aid that will be needed to restore their state's economy.

At least $500 million is required to cope with "the worst disaster that has ever struck any state," Gruening declared. In Anchorage, Egan said outright grants of at least that much will be needed to reconstruct housing, business and industrial facilities. "We can rebuild in no other way," he said.

Usually federal aid funds are available only for clearing debris and rehabilitating public buildings and highways, but Bartlett and Gruening hinted that the President may request congressional authority to provide direct financial assistance to private industry.

There was no official confirmation of the Alaskans' suggestion, although the idea is known to have been discussed in high administration quarters.

To head the 12-man special commission, Johnson named Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M. One of its tasks presumably will be to weigh proposals for helping to rebuild the fishing and canning industries on which the Alaskan economy was based.

2 Navy Men Missing After Carrier Mishap

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A flight deck elevator on the carrier Randolph broke loose and fell into the ocean Wednesday night, carrying five men and an airplane with it, the Navy reported today.

Three of the men were rescued by the destroyer Holder, which was performing plane guard duty for the Randolph. The two other men were listed as missing. The accident occurred 270 miles southeast of Cape Henry, Va.

Immediately after the elevator broke loose there was an explosion, followed by fire that engulfed the starboard side of the ship.

He said the flames were put out in 10 minutes.

In Military Revolt

President Goulart Ousted In Brazil; Successor Chosen

Mazzilli's New Leader Of Country

Ex-Chief Flees, But Declares He'll 'Fight To Death'

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Congress today declared President Joao Goulart was ousted from office by a two-day military rebellion, and installed his successor. But from a haven in southern Brazil, Goulart declared he still is president and will "fight to the death."

Installed in an early morning ceremony in the inland capital of Brasilia as the new president was Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli, president of the Chamber of Deputies.

Goulart fled from Rio de Janeiro as rebel army units and civilian militiamen marched on the city Wednesday, vowing to force him from office and lift "the Red yoke" from Brazil. He flew to Brasilia and then to Porto Alegre, 670 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro.

There, in his home state of Rio Grande do Sul, he claimed support of the strong 3rd Army. A statement read in his name over Porto Alegre radio declared: "The hour of mobilization, the hour of vigilance is here."

The broadcast declared Goulart still is president and would put down the rebellion with powerful military support. It insisted that Goulart still is in Brazil, but did not say he was in Porto Alegre.

His statement called on the people to organize to defend democracy, and urged them to come to Porto Alegre or to go to their city halls and demonstrate.

Radio Liberty, in the industrial city of Sao Paulo, an anti-Goulart stronghold, said there were unconfirmed reports Goulart had fled to Asuncion, Paraguay, and asked for political asylum.

In Brasilia, Auro Andrade, president of the Brazilian Senate, declared the presidency vacant. Mazzilli, next in line because Brazil has no vice president, took the oath of office at 3:30 a.m.

The revolutionary generals met in Rio and announced that calm reigned throughout the country.

Mazzilli, 53, is the son of Italian immigrants and a lawyer of conservative political inclinations. He has been acting president four times in the past, three times in the absence of Goulart or President Janio Quadros from the country, and when Quadros resigned in 1961 while Goulart, then vice president, was on a trip to Communist China.

Goulart fled from Brasilia Wednesday night to his home state in southern Brazil, asserting that he was still the country's legal president and vowing to put down the rebellion with powerful military forces he said still supported him.

County Fund's Record

$4,816,599 Set In Appropriation

LISBON — Columbiana County's 1964 appropriation of $4,816,599 has been set by county commissioners. It is $1,771,050 more than was spent in 1963.

This is the largest appropriation ever approved by county commissioners to run the government and all departments but five were given more than they spent.

Most of the big difference in the road and bridge fund represents carryover from year-to-year in case of a major repair project while the difference for special appraisal apparently represents the start of a fund for the 10-year appraisal.

New taxes and projected building, including a hospital addition at the County Home, account for other major increases. A federal grant has been provided for the home project, with marching funds to come from a new levy, and from general funds if needed. A continuing levy for TB care provides that fund.

Here is the breakdown of the appropriations for 1964 with 1963 expenditures in parentheses:

County commissioners — $65,050 ($40,822); county auditor — $77,375 ($74,279); county treasurer — $57,210 ($52,384); records commission — $50 (none); budget commission — $50 (none); prosecuting attorney — $28,200 ($23,758); Board of Revision — $50 ($38.39); Bureau of Inspection — $2,000 ($5,229); county regional planning — $4,000 (none); Court of Appeals — $600 (none).

Common Pleas Court — $85,140 ($72,265); Support Division and Juvenile Court — $24,940 ($25,455); Probate Court — $51,722 ($50,330); clerk of courts — $61,030 ($60,484); coroner — $8,830 ($8,261); county and mu-

Man, 46, Dies As Speeding Auto Wrecks

Driver, 19, Injured Critically In Crash Of 15-Year-Old Car

A 46-year-old Wetzel County man was killed and his 19-year-old companion was critically injured in a one-car crash Wednesday afternoon on Hardins Run Rd., about two miles east of New Cumberland.

Killed instantly in the crash which sheriff's deputies said apparently resulted from excessive speed was Carl W. Robinson of Littleton.

His companion, Willard Nale Fisher, 19, also of Littleton and driver of the 15-year-old auto, was listed in "very critical" condition at Weirton General Hospital with a fractured skull and multiple injuries.

Meanwhile, a Weirton resident, William J. Lafferty Jr., 36, lost his life this morning when his car struck two utility poles on Route 2 near Follansbee in Brooke County.

Coroner John D. Herron impaled six bystanders at the Hardins Run Rd. accident scene to view the body and set an inquest for 7:30 p. m. Friday at his office in New Cumberland.

The jurors are Bud McKnight, James Beatty, Kenneth Giller, Andy Macek, John Biela and Cecil Watson.

Sheriff's deputies said the 1949 auto literally was wrapped around a tree and both men were pinned in the wreckage.

It took rescuers 15 minutes to free Fisher and a wrecker had to be summoned to free Mr. Robinson's body, which was wedged between the tree and car.

The accident still is under investigation but deputies said excessive speed apparently caused Fisher to lose control on a curve. Skid marks measured 260 feet, they pointed out.

The two men, who came to Hancock County to pick up a truck, were headed west toward New Cumberland when the crash occurred at 4:50 p. m.

Mr. Robinson's body was taken to the Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland.

2 Servicemen Unharmed In Alaska Quake

Another East Liverpool serviceman has been reported unharmed in the Alaskan earthquake zone, the local Red Cross chapter said Wednesday. A city family heard of the safety of another.

The chapter received the reply Tuesday to its inquiry of Airman 2C Charles L. Ferguson. A sister, Mrs. Mary Lockhart, had asked the Red Cross to check in to his welfare.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Nelson of 5th Ave., LaCrosse received word yesterday from their son, Jim Nelson, of Ft. Richardson near Anchorage. The serviceman called direct to advise he escaped unhurt.

The local chapter said a staff of 14 Red Cross workers is checking on more than 30,000 inquiries of servicemen and civilians at the Seattle office. Disrupted communication is the reason for the delay in receiving replies.

There have been no official replies as yet to inquiries made of civilians from East Liverpool residing in Alaska.

Meanwhile, an East Liverpool ham radio operator was able to help his dad's boss in relaying a vital message from a New York insurance firm to its Anchorage office after the earthquake.

Richard Feldman, son of Ben Feldman of St. Clair Ave., made radio contact with a Fairbanks ham who sent the message on to Anchorage for the New York Life Insurance Co., for which the elder Feldman is local agent.

With all communications down, Dudley Dowell, New York Life's president, contacted the local youth who forwarded the message over the weekend. The youth is a student at Youngstown University. He operates K8-HGY ham station.

4 Gubernatorial Candidates Saving Their Heavy Punches

PRINCETON, W. Va. (AP)—Nearly 500 persons jammed the Mercer County courthouse here Wednesday night to observe West Virginia's four Democratic gubernatorial candidates in a combined public appearance.

And if those attending expected any fireworks they were disappointed. The candidates for nomination in the May 12 primary are apparently saving their heavy punches for the later rounds of the campaign.

Speaking at the political rally sponsored by Mercer County Democrats were Hulett C. Smith of Beckley, Bonn Brown of Elkins, Julius Singleton Jr. of Morgantown and Harold Cutright of Ivanhoe, Upshur County. Cutright, a business consultant and gentleman farmer, spoke first and restated the proposals he had made earlier Wednesday at a press conference in Charleston. He called for an end to the state's sales consumer and income taxes in favor of a resources tax.

Singleton called his candidacy "serious," and said he was running "because I am concerned with the Democratic Party."

"There is not as much integrity as there used to be at the top . . . and I sense from the people an undercurrent that something is wrong with our party," he added with elaboration.

Smith, former state commerce commissioner, pointed out the forward strides which he said resulted from efforts of the Barren administration. Among these were new state industry and better roads.

Brown, who arrived an hour late on a flight from Charleston, said "its time to think big in West Virginia . . ." He also said the State Welfare Department's problems could be partially solved "by compulsory education for recipients and better supervision."

Each speaker was limited to 10 minutes.

The Cancer Crusade And You

There are few of us in the Tri-State Area who do not know personally of some one — perhaps a member of our family — claimed by cancer in the past year.

Of those cancer victims, it is amazing the percentage who might have been saved had the disease been discovered early enough for prompt treatment.

The American Cancer Society, which is currently conducting its annual education and fund drive, reports three-fourths of the 76,000 men and women who will develop cancer of the colon this year could be saved by early diagnosis.

Annual health checkups are the answer, along with increased awareness of the danger of cancer and further research into the disease and how it can be combated.

More than 1 million men, women and children are alive today, cured of cancer. Improvements in surgery, radiation, use of drugs, new techniques of diagnosis, better facilities for treatment, a greater public concern about cancer and action on that concern, are saving the lives of tens of thousands of Americans annually, who would have died if they had had the disease less than a generation ago.

Costly research has accomplished much of this. And this is one of the reasons why you should support the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and service.

When the volunteer workers bring the cancer literature to your door, accept it and read it — and give generously to the crusade which means so much to the future health of all American families, especially yours.

Next One To Watch

In Wisconsin, where strange politics is legendary, they're calling the presidential primary contest between the Wisconsin governor, John W. Reynolds, and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, the strangest ever.

The idea of an Alabama "segregationist" and "nullificationist" coming into a state with a long history of liberalism to challenge a favorite-son candidate in a presidential primary is almost beyond belief.

The projection of the idea—that Gov. Wallace will be bidding in Wisconsin's presidential primary for Republican votes, though he is an "unreconstructed" Democrat, is so far beyond belief that the significance of the outcome is just beginning to dawn on political bird-watchers.

Wisconsin has no Negro problem. Its Negroes are scattered. Many communities have no Negro residents. The state prides itself on having jealously guarded the principle of equal opportunity. So what is Gov. Wallace fishing for so far away from Alabama?

He is fishing for a possible reaction in the Wisconsin primary April 7 that would embarrass civil rights proponents in the federal government. A substantial Wallace vote would be a rebuff to integration.

The cold fact is that integration is a hot political issue. The civil rights bill is only one result, not a main cause, of the heat it has generated.

Politicians are going to rise and fall according to their stand on integration. That is the way it has been in the Deep South since Reconstruction.

Alabama's Gov. Wallace has had the temerity to transplant the issue into Wisconsin. If it takes root there and thrives, the shape of politics will be affected for years to come.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

Your paragraph the other day about moralists frowning on lotteries as a means of raising government money gave me a laugh. You indicated that there are seldom squawks about the government getting money from liquor, tobacco, cosmetics, widows and orphans.

Face up to it, Twill. The government gets tax revenue from prostitutes, gamblers, dope-pushers, junkies, murderers, criminal syndicate kings, con men, parliamenters, newspapermen, abortionists, shy-sters and assorted tycoons and phonies.

Taxation is like rain: it falls on the just and the unjust. And generally speaking you can say the same about tax revenue.

If you want the greatest possible freedom from the rule of the jungle, protection of law, fire and police protection, sewers, roads and all the other accepted necessities of western civilization, you have to pay for it.

Paradoxically, government is about the only thing popularly excepted from the maxim, "You get what you pay for." This comes from the hope that the government which governs least governs best, and consequently the lower the taxes the better the government.

MY CONSCIENCE was already pricked with your paragraph about taxing such sources of vice as liquor, tobacco and gambling, and then it occurred to me that we don't stop there.

Look at old Al Capone, our generation's idol of the underworld. He made millions of dollars selling bootleg liquor and beer to otherwise upright citizens, sent umpteen competitors on one-way rides and in the process machine-gunned uncounted innocent bystanders.

No one needs to be told that dog food is big business.

Every supermarket is jammed with competing brands of crunchies, munchies, squishies and squashes for dogs.

Man's best friend has a better diet than man, himself. Does it not say on the sack and on the can that the contents are guaranteed to provide complete nutrition? There has been nothing like this for man, not even the famed K-ration of World War II.

It raises a question: What did dogs eat before the giant food corporations tapped the potentialities of the dog food market?

What are dogs still eating in places where no one even has tapped the potentialities of providing food for humans?

WE WERE wondering about this when the two Twillery dogs knocked at the door after their morning constitutional.

They had Muttie with them. He is a mongrelized traveler who dropped in recently after an arduous journey from somewhere to nowhere.

Because his condition was conspicuously unsanitary, Muttie wasn't invited inside for breakfast. A dish of crunchies was set outside for him—the same brand the Twillery dogs eat.

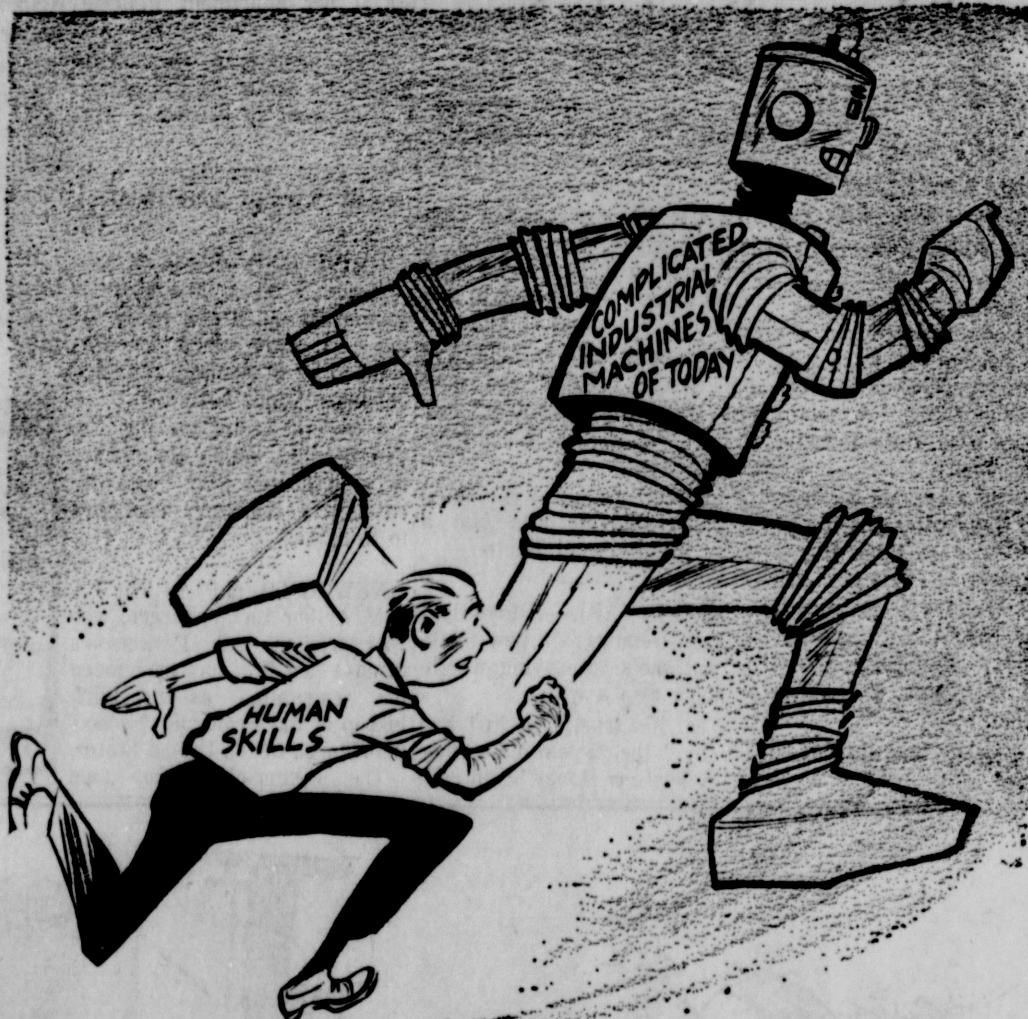

Muttie must never have seen crunchies. He didn't know what to do with them. He was baffled.

A bowl of leftover vegetable soup was substituted. He knew what to do about that. He inhaled it.

All Twillery dogs inhale food—dog food, people food, small game caught by their own effort, ears of field corn snatched

Dock Workers Differ With Rusk

By Victor Riesel

American waterfront labor leaders are angrily referring to the secretary of state as the "reluctant Mr. Rusk," because they believe he doesn't want to hurt the feelings of the Soviet Union. They claim that Rusk is siding with the Russians against them in the battle over

Victor Riesel whose ships shall be used to haul wheat, other grains and dairy stuffs to the USSR and its satellites.

Thus, another international incident is brewing amid quiet waterfront preparations to boycott the loading of cargoes destined for the Communist world.

Everybody believed this matter had been settled in February during a series of phone conversations between President Johnson and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. At that time confidential letters were exchanged between the two men. These memorandums are so secret that only the White House and Meany have copies of the one in which Mr. Johnson pledges absolutely that half of all such shipments will cross the ocean in American vessels.

Furthermore at a White House meeting on Monday, March 16, President Johnson told Meany and other labor leaders that he had it all worked out virtually to within a few "pounds."

SUDDENLY WORD came from the Soviet Union that the 50-50 deal would be off after the then current purchase of wheat. Russia and the East European Communist nations needed more food — but they would not commit themselves to using American craft to haul the grains.

When the Longshoremen and Sailors' Union chiefs heard of this turnabout, they hit the deck and quickly word went to Washington that they would not load or sail any cargoes negotiated under any future sales unless the 50-50 pledge was kept.

They were invited down to an off - the - record blue chip conference on Monday, March 23. Blue chip, it was — for in Department of Commerce Room 5855 when they arrived at 3 o'clock were Dean Rusk; the secretary of agriculture, Orville Freeman; the secretary of commerce, Luther Hodges and his under secretary, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., just to name a few.

THE GOVERNMENT needed its big guns since the labor delegation included the Seafarers' Paul Hall, the National Maritime Union's Joseph Curran and the International Longshoremen's Thomas (Teddy) Gleason. These labor chiefs have enough influence to shut down the docks to all but the U. S. Navy. And with them was George Meany.

Rusk, who faced this powerhouse for half of the two-hour meeting, said, in effect, that he was opposed to setting any 50-50 quota on the ships which would carry future foodstuffs to Russia and eastern Europe.

He spoke of our international obligations and of his own assignment to find outlets for U.S. surplus commodities.

At one point Gleason retorted that India was hungry, too, and needed 500,000 tons of wheat alone. There is a market, he said, sufficient to absorb our surpluses.

Rusk claimed that the Russians would just refuse to buy from us if we insisted on their using too many of our own vessels which operate at a higher cost than foreign ships.

ORVILLE FREEMAN, who worked with Rusk as a team, backed him up.

"We went as far as we could," he said, "and the Russians would not buy it. In my judgment the USSR will not pay our price (the full price of the grain and shipping charges). They will starve their people first just as a matter of pride."

Meany bristled. Earlier he had asked Rusk and Freeman: "Would you sell to them if you got no commitment on a 50-50 per cent of the shipping?" Following their replies, Meany said quietly: "That is where you and I differ. I would not favor these sales without a guarantee on U. S. flagships."

This appears to be the key part of the dialogue. Meany's brief, softly spoken sentence meant that he was ready to back up his waterfront people if they hit the docks with a widespread boycott.

It was Meany who negotiated directly with President Johnson in February the pact which averted a stoppage then. There are few men who are tougher bargainers than Meany when he gets started. He gave his word to his men that they had an agreement with the White House. Therefore, it all will go back to Lyndon Johnson again.

THE PRESIDENT will have to choose between the advice of his secretary of state and the demands of the labor leaders that the Russians give us half the shipping business.

If Mr. Johnson heeds Rusk—and Agriculture Secretary Freeman — the waterfront unions will positively boycott any craft putting into the U. S. to pick up the foodstuffs.

Insiders are saying that President Johnson will back up the dockside unionists who never wanted to do business with the Soviets in the first place. There may even be a Cabinet shakeup before this as yet unnoticed new crisis hits the world headlines.

History may have been made that afternoon in Room 5855.

Down Through The Years

Rights Imbroglia

By David Lawrence

Proposed Bill Poses Constitutional Problems

The civil rights bill, if enacted into law, will open up a whole series of adventures in constitutionalism.

The Constitution gives Congress the right "to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states."

Applying David Lawrence this clause, the law makers have felt justified in passing statutes governing monopolies, price fixing, and the recognition of labor unions but nowhere in the Constitution is there any explicit power bestowed on Congress to take away from employers the right to choose their employees, even if this means refusing to hire persons of a particular color, religion or national origin.

The extent to which the new legislation is bound to open up constitutional controversies is indicated by a provision in the pending bill as it was passed by the House of Representatives. This calls for a regulation of employment practices. While forbidding any discrimination because of "race, color, religion, sex or national origin," the proposed legislation would permit discrimination against persons because of their "atheistic practices and beliefs" as well as against persons who are members of Communist party organizations.

THIS IS the first time that Congress has dealt in the matter of employment with the beliefs of an individual. If Congress claims the constitutional right to prohibit or permit discrimination where color or race or religion or beliefs of any kind are involved, then the Supreme Court of the United States will be confronted some day with some interesting questions.

Will it, for example, decide that atheism is a religious belief? Not long ago, in ruling on prayers in the schools, it decided in favor of defendants who professed atheistic beliefs. The court held that local governments could not direct that prayers be said in the public schools because they might run counter to beliefs of those who happened to be atheists.

The problem with the respect to employment is not so simple. The pending bill in the Senate not only recognizes the right to discriminate in employment against atheists and those holding Communist beliefs, but it also permits an employer to advertise for persons of a particular religious belief and to exclude all others wherever, as the bill states, religion is "a bona fide occupational qualification reasonably necessary to the normal operation of that particular business or enterprise."

What this amounts to is a formal recognition that religious beliefs can be a factor in employment practices.

THE CONSTITUTION does not give Congress any such broad legal power to approve or disapprove of religious beliefs. In fact, it specifically says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The Supreme Court has even ruled that Congress cannot pass any law which aids one religion over another. Certainly there is nothing to indicate that a citizen can, under the Constitution, be deprived of a job because of any beliefs.

Yet the Supreme Court has upheld compulsory unionization and has ruled against citizens who do not profess atheism or any belief in the theory of Communism but who have preferred to stay out of any labor union because of their convictions and have thereby lost their jobs.

Under the National Labor Relations Act, the employer is permitted to enter into contracts with a union pledging the dismissal of an employee who, after 30 days, does not join a union.

This, of course, is punishing a man for his beliefs, and the cases heretofore have dealt solely with voluntary agreements between private individuals — employers and unions.

In the new civil rights legislation, however, the issue involved is one in which the government itself intervenes and lays down the rule that no employer can refuse to hire because of race, color, religion or national origin.

Congress now would interpret this particular principle to prohibit discrimination against as well as discrimination in favor of certain types of religious activity.

THE SUPREME COURT certainly will have a hard time determining just how Congress gets the right to regulate employment practices on the basis of religious beliefs by citing the words: "to regulate commerce." Congress, in effect, will not be regulating just commerce. It will be regulating relations between citizens on the basis of certain beliefs.

If, therefore, the power "to regulate commerce" now does include the right of Congress to determine what association employees may or may not have with each other, the Supreme Court will have its hands full trying to justify this clause of the Constitution as covering religious beliefs.

It is indeed difficult to see how the Supreme Court can be on both sides of this question—how it can say that Congress has the right to negate any discrimination because of religion and at the same time to permit employers to refuse to hire atheists or persons who believe in Communism.

East German Sovereignty

By John O. Koehler

BERLIN A tall, hefty East German policeman manning a roadblock in an East German town stopped a car bearing the license plates of a western country and told the Western driver he could not proceed without a special permit.

A Soviet official was a passenger in the car and told the driver not to worry. "Here I am the chief," the Russian said. He shouted a few words in Russian.

The policeman snapped to attention, saluted and without inspecting any papers at all waved the car through the roadblock.

"Is that what you mean when you speak of the sovereignty of East Germany?" the Westerner asked.

The Russian grinned and replied: "Konetchno" (of course). This incident is one example of what happens on a low level when an East German tries to exercise "sovereignty" vis-a-vis a Russian.

The regime led by Lenin-bearded Walter Ulbricht seems more closely controlled by the Kremlin than any other Soviet satellite.

East German party functionaries heatedly deny this. But when Ulbricht built his wall through Berlin in 1961, to stop the escape of refugees, Nikita Khrushchev said: "I authorized the wall to be built and I am proud of it."

Official statements, however, are careful to emphasize sovereignty. When talking about more than 300,000 Soviet troops stationed in East Germany, the phrase always is: "The troops of the Soviet Union stationed by mutual agreement temporarily in the German Democratic Republic."

These troops live almost entirely off East Germany. Officers and men receive half their pay in East marks, which are not freely convertible even within the East bloc.

Ulbricht has no choice. He needs Soviet backing. When the East German people revolted in 1953, the Soviet army put down the uprising.

After 10 years East Germany still is seeking international recognition. Outside the Communist bloc, only the new government of Zanzibar has recognized Ulbricht's regime.

dez, along with their teachers, now are attending schools at Gulkana, Copper Center and Glenallen. The schools in Kodiak and Seward are being used as emergency centers. In the Kodiak Island village of Old Harbor, the school is standing but the village it was supposed to serve is gone.

Transportation facilities are getting emergency repairs.

Henry Roloff, state commissioner of economic development and planning, said the government-owned Alaska Railroad, the only one in the state, should be open north to Fairbanks and south to Whittier in three weeks.

Repairing it from Whittier south to Seward "will be a long haul" because of the number of bridges out, he said.

The highway to Seward is out and the town is being supplied by air. The Alaska Highway to Seattle and the Richardson Highway to Valdez are open, however.

Docks at Anchorage, Cordova and Homer are operable, but the one at Valdez was destroyed. Tides at the latter city have been running 14 feet lower than normal, indicating that the land in that area raised 14 feet in a massive uplift.

As the meeting ended, Gosney read a brief statement to a crowd of reporters who had waited outside. He said Co. Glenn's central campaign headquarters at Columbus was closed, effective yesterday. No organization will be formed in the "draft" movement and no fund-raising campaign is planned, he said.

The colonel's name will appear on the Ohio ballot because he quit the race after the deadline for withdrawals had passed.

Gosney said the 20 Democratic leaders decided essentially "to let the people decide" if there will be a draft movement to keep the astronaut in the race. His opponent is the 74-year-old incumbent, Sen. Stephen M. Young.

All 20 of the Democratic leaders spoke briefly before the decision was made.

They include Fred L. Bohn of Zanesville, Col. Glenn's campaign chairman; William L. Mayer of Franklin County, chairman of the Young People for Glenn Committee; Earl Wise of Stark County; John S. Wiethe, Hamilton County Democratic chairman, and Robert E. Wallace, who had been in charge of scheduling Col. Glenn's appearances in a campaign that never materialized.

Governor Moves To Settle Issue Blocking Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes moved today to conciliate a dispute blocking funds for higher education and other purposes from the $250 million capital improvements bond issue.

The governor conferred for an hour with Theodore Saker, counsel for Paul J. Lynch, Columbus school teacher who challenged financing provisions of the bond issue in an Ohio Supreme Court suit.

The court action tied up funds scheduled for construction and planning at various state universities. Sitting in on the early morning conference in the governor's office were his executive assistant, John McElroy; Finance Director Richard Krabach and Gerald Donahue, first assistant attorney general.

Saker said he would confer with Lynch later to see what could be developed.

"This was a meeting to conciliate matters dealing with the bond issue," Rhodes told newsmen. He declined to elaborate. But the governor said other meetings were planned.

Haiti Leader Gives Himself Lifetime Title

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Dr. Francois Duvalier has tacked the title of lifetime president onto his tight dictatorship over Haiti.

The country doctor - turned - politician took the step as another in a series of measures which, since his election in 1957 for a six-year term, have given him an iron rule over this poverty-stricken Caribbean nation of 4 million people.

Top officers of his army assembled at the National Palace for the ceremony Wednesday.

Information Minister Paul Blanchet said Duvalier was acting in response to public demonstrations urging him to rule for life and to the expressed wish of the officers to take a new oath to him.

"I am happy that you understand it is necessary to join the revolutionary crowd and come here this morning to render homage to the constitutional chief of the armed forces in a new oath of allegiance," Duvalier told the officers, whose army Duvalier has reduced to 5,000 men in favor of the 10,000 secret police of the "ton-ton moute," or bogeymen.

Duvalier singled out Gen. Gerard Constant, the chief of staff, and reminded him that he was a lieutenant when he sided with Duvalier in the 1957 campaign "and now you are a general."

Duvalier has bested rebels inside and outside Haiti as well as the opposition of the United States since he took office.

Relations between Haiti and the United States were broken off last year after Duvalier extended his presidential term by means of a rigged election. Relations were restored late in 1963, and Duvalier's recent pleasant dealings with the United States indicated he wants a resumption of U. S. aid.

Since 1957 the United States has given more than $60 million in loans and grants to help the country, where per capita income is about $60 a year. Most American aid was cut off last August in retaliation for his extending his rule.

Viet Forces Clash With Communists

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese forces clashed with Communist guerrillas in the Mekong River delta today within 20 miles of an area Richard M. Nixon was visiting.

Casualties were believed to have been heavy. The former U. S. vice president apparently did not get near the action.

Nixon had flown by helicopter to Tan An, 30 miles south of Saigon, to inspect some hamlets the government has set up in a crash program to push out the Red Viet Cong. U. S. sources said the firing began when the government mounted an operation earlier in the day.

Nixon conferred with Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U. S. forces in Viet Nam, and scheduled another meeting with U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, his vice - presidential running mate in 1960.

Nixon, who has not shut the door on a draft for the Republican presidential nomination, said it was natural that he and Lodge should talk politics. But neither he nor Lodge would reveal what they said.

It was apparently a "blanket" offer, covering both the deputies, county constables and police chiefs in Chester and New Cumberland, although there were indications that compensation for all but the deputies would be negotiated with the race track management.

Roads leading to the track were blocked for miles.

"All were from an hour to two and a half hours late getting to the factory because of the traffic tieup caused by the action of the sheriff's office," the letter said. "Not only did our employees lose several hundred dollars in wages, but it cost our company between $4,000 and $5,000 in lost production," it continued.

"Our business has not been prosperous enough in the past few years to allow us to gracefully accept such a loss," the Homer Laughlin management declared.

It added that the pottery employees

CHEVY II by Chevrolet

How to get away from it all including the high cost of travel!

If you're looking for a way to get the whole family there and back on a small vacation budget, this is the station wagon that can do it.

You see, a Chevy II is one of the most inexpensive wagons you can own. It goes so many miles between gas stops you'll think we built in a spare tank. Garage stops, too, are far, far apart.

And you get 76 cu. ft. of cargo space for less money than you'd expect to pay for most sedans. Big enough to handle fat rowboats and tall fishing poles. Powerful enough to tote fully loaded trailers.

And all Chevy II's come with Chevrolet's money-saving, easy-care features. Like Body by Fisher, rust-resisting flush-and-dry rocker panels, battery-saving Delcotron generator and self-adjusting brakes.

Besides wagons, of course, there are Chevy II sedans and coupes. The Super Sport Coupe comes with a wide range of engines, bucket seats, door-to-door carpeting and either an extra-cost floor-mounted Powerglide or 4-speed transmission. So although Chevy II's are economical to buy and own, they certainly don't look it.

And now that it's Trade 'N' Travel Time at your Chevrolet dealer's, you'll never find a better time to look into Chevy II. Look under its hood. Slam its solid doors. Bounce on its thickly padded foam-cushioned seats. But above all else—try it on the highway. It'll give you a 'good run for your money.

The Ruth Circle with 14 present met with Mrs. Galen Bye of Canton Rd. Mrs. Glenn Watkins and Mrs. Ronald Tanner were co-hostesses.

The least coin was given by Mrs. Forrest Lowry and Mrs. Floyd Bake, spiritual life leader, led devotions.

Program Presented
Miss Ruth Bye, program chairman, Mrs. A. H. Timmerman and Mrs. Tanner gave the program. The circle divided into groups for discussions.

Mary Circle Meets
Mrs. Paul Morlan of March Rd. was hostess for the Mary Circle, with Mrs. Victor William and Mrs. Charles Shinn co-hostesses.

A favorite Bible verse was roll call response of the 14 present. The least coin was presented by the chairman, Mrs. Thomas Liggett, and devotions by Mrs. S. E. Nold, spiritual life leader.

The program topic was presented by Miss Gladys Loudon and Mrs. Liggett.

The Martha Circle met at the home of Mrs. Ray Davies of W. Washington St. Mrs. Frank Flugan and Mrs. Homer Bell were co-hostesses. Twelve members and two guests were present.

Mrs. A. E. Christopher, spiritual life leader, was in charge of the devotions and the least coin was given by Mrs. C. E. Kennedy.

Assisted With Topic
Mrs. C. D. Libby was program chairman. Assisting were Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Edwin Goodballet. A question-and-answer period followed.

The Pow Wow Club was entertained by Mrs. Joseph Baronzzi of Cedar St. Tuesday evening and Mrs. Robert MacAlcese was welcomed as a new member.

A tour of his newly-decorated offices in the Farmers' Bank was conducted by Atty. Baronzzi, followed by a visit to the courthouses, where he explained procedures of the various offices.

Italian Food Served

Mrs. Baronzzi served Italian food, aided by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Enrico Baronzzi.

Hostess for the meeting April 16 will be Mrs. Homer Laughlin of Salem Rd.

The Kate DeWesse Association of District 13 of past matrons and patrons of the Order of Eastern Star met Tuesday evening at Sebring.

Mrs. Russell Harsh of Lisbon, president, presided at the semi-annual meeting, when 19 candidates, including Mr. and Mrs. Glen Conn, worthy patron and matron of Iva Chapter, became members.

Also attending from Lisbon were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cope, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Beers, Mrs. Joseph Dornon, Mrs. Walter Lipp, Mrs. Gilbert Marshall, Mrs. Willis McCord and Mrs. Russell Lodge.

Welcome Group Meets

The Lisbon Welcome Wagon Club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Oliver Payne of E. Chestnut St. and Mrs. Herbert Chuck, Mrs. Betty Campbell and Mrs. George Kasko were guests.

Mrs. James Horger, president, conducted business. Handmade millinery was the program presented by Mrs. Howard Cole, who demonstrated hat making and displayed several.

Next meeting will be April 23 with Mrs. J. Richard Lefebvre of N. Market St.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Griggs of Cream Ridge Rd. have returned from Good Springs, Ala., where they were called last week by the death of his mother, Mrs. Martha Griggs, 93.

Guests of Mrs. Frank Steele of Vine St. this week are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mitchell and daughter, Mrs. William Martin, and children, Billy and Betty, of Wilmington, Del.

Story Hour Planned At Carnegie Library

The spring pre-school story hour at the Carnegie Public Library will begin Wednesday and continue for six weeks.

Sessions will be held on Wednesdays from 10 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 3 p. m., with Mrs. Hilda McEwen in charge, assisted by Mrs. Ann Triguba.

Mrs. McEwen said youngsters from 4 to 6 may register at the library. Registrations for the forenoon session are closed since the quota has been reached.

Mrs. McEwen said, but about 15 openings remain for the afternoon sessions.

Hammondsville Man Fined On Old Tickets

Charles Howell of Hammondsville was fined $24 and $7.50 costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a charge of ignoring eight old parking tickets.

An affidavit signed by "Meter Maid" Ruby English alleged specifically that Howell failed to pay the penalty for a ticket issued for an overtime violation Sept. 3, 1963, on Dresden Ave. Attached to the affidavit were seven more tickets which Howell allegedly ignored.

Driver Released To Resume Work; Told To Pay Fine

An East End man serving out a sentence on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol was released from jail today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, but warned he must make arrangements to settle an unpaid $200 fine.

The judge granted release to James F. McCoy, 31, of 2147 Ohio Ave., whom he had sentenced Monday to a fine of $200 and costs, a five-day jail term and a 90-day suspension of his driver's license. The judge said he was advised McCoy would lose his job if he remained in jail any longer.

McCoy was arrested last Friday night. He told the judge he finished the five-day term last night, but admitted the fine still was not paid.

Releasing McCoy about 9 a. m., the judge instructed him to return at 1 p. m., ready to pay an installment on the fine and make arrangements to settle the rest. McCoy said he has $60 to $70 in the bank he will use to help pay the fine.

Man In 2 Burglaries

Is Granted Probation

LISBON — A 20-year-old Girard man was placed on five years probation Wednesday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard on two charges of burglary.

Richard A. Clinton pleaded guilty in the burglaries of Oct. 10, the garage of Albert Schnorrenberg, taking $268 worth of equipment, and Oct. 17 at the Rod Angels Club, when $825 in tools were taken. All the loot was returned to the owners and Clinton surrendered to Salem police and requested probation when arraigned Jan. 20.

He was indicted with James John Combs, 21, of Youngstown, who was sentenced to the Ohio State Reformatory for his part.

The court said it didn't find Clinton's past record "good" but he is married and has a 10-month-old child to support and "he can become a respected citizen if he obeys the terms of his probation." If he doesn't, court warned, he will be brought in and sentenced.

4-H News

The second session of the annual training conference for 4-H officers and advisors will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at South Side School in Columbiana.

Robert Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H, said the conference is designed to help 4-H discussion of general 4-H problems by advisors.

Sessions and leaders include: Gary Wilhelm, Columbiana, presidents and vice presidents; Tom Rudebeck, Leetonia, secretaries and treasurers; Paul Young, Guilford, reporters; Miss Sue Serafy, Wellsville, recreation song leaders; Miss Lois McCullam, Salineville, Miss Candy Hill, Lisbon, devotions; Don Myers, Lisbon, health and safety, and Lewis, advisors.

The Columbiana County 4-H girls show which was scheduled for Wednesday night at 8 at the First Methodist Church in Lisbon was postponed to April 8, according to Robert Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H work. It will be held at the church at the same time.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Thursday, April 2, the 93rd day of 1964. There are 273 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, President Woodrow Wilson asked Congress to declare that war existed between the United States and Germany. Four days later the United States was at war.

On this date

In 1792, Congress authorized the establishment of the U.S. Mint; the first coins were made in Philadelphia in 1794.

In 1861, the Territory of Dakota was created by an act of Congress.

In 1865, Confederate troops evacuated Richmond, Va.

In 1872, the inventor of the telegraph, Samuel F. B. Morse, died in New York City.

In 1945, American forces were driving inland on Okinawa after the largest amphibious operation of World War II in the Pacific.

Ten years ago—Turkey and Pakistan—both receiving U.S. arms aid—signed a mutual defense treaty.

Five years ago—The government of Iraq canceled a contract with a British firm for construction of a steel plant in Baghdad and announced the plant would be built by the Soviet Union.

One year ago — Soviet Premier Khrushchev rejected a Red China bid for a meeting to discuss ideological differences.

Air Of Impatience

It Hangs Over Khrushchev's Visit To Hungary

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

An air of impatience hangs over Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to Hungary this week for talks with Communist leaders.

Communist parties around the world are choosing up sides in the Soviet-Chinese dispute, and it would not be surprising if Moscow decided to excommunicate certain elements and thus blow the lid off the controversy over ideologies.

The Budapest meeting may not produce the fireworks, but they do not appear far off. Some Red leaders are frantically seeking to avert a climactic show. The French party is calling for a world meeting soon.

Moscow, which has opposed the idea of a world meeting, may be coming around to the idea that it must be held. It is unlikely, however, that the Red Chinese would favor a Moscow-sponsored convention.

That Khrushchev is running out of patience is indicated in an attack on him published by Red Flag, Peking's theoretical journal. The attack is signed by pro-Chinese V. G. Wilcox, secretary-general of the New Zealand party. He accused the Russians of threatening to expel parties disagreeing with Khrushchev's cautious, long-term strategy for the world revolution.

Refuse Dump Plan Seen As Water Threat

LISBON—Since inspection by a geologist of the Ohio Division of Natural Resources showed the possibility of contamination of the underground water supply if a trash dump operates in a strip-mine area near Washingtonville, the County Health Board is not expected to reinstate a license for the operation which it suspended, Atty. Howard Cole, chairman, has announced.

The Health Board decided March 16 to suspend the license for the dump operation which it has issued to Robert George of New Waterford. The action was taken in response to a series of protests from groups and individuals in the area in which the dump was to operate.

Meanwhile, the board asked an inspection by the Bureau of Natural Resources. Alfred C. Walker, principal geologist of the agency, sent this letter to Harry Stockdale, county sanitarian, explaining an inspection be made March 25:

"At the time of my inspection, all the facts pertaining to the situation were not available. I appreciate the need for a sanitary landfill in this area and feel that strip mined areas often lend themselves to this use very satisfactorily. I also realize that many local residents are alarmed at the possibility of this being a health hazard.

"Since my return, I have read Douglas Hasbrouck's report, reviewed my own notes, studied old mining records and water well logs and discussed the matter with Mr. Dickman and Mr. Bates of the Division of Reclamation.

"I find that: (1) The area west of Washingtonville has been extensively mined; (2) During stripping operations, several breaks were made into the old mine openings; (3) The Washingtonville municipal wells have a direct hydraulic connection with these old mine openings.

"Thus, if the strip cut were used as a landfill, leached fluids would almost certainly enter the old mine openings exposed in the cut. These old mines are considered to be aquifers in the area.

"I believe that the use of this pit for landfill would contaminate ground waters. Therefore, we cannot approve of this proposal."

Wilcox says Mikhail A. Suslov, Soviet party theoretician, voiced the threat during a Moscow meeting with a New Zealand delegation.

When their talks ended, Suslov said, according to Wilcox: "You are wrong. We had hoped you might change. If you change, you will remain within the ranks of the fraternal world parties of Marxism - Leninism. But if you do not change, then, of course, you will be outside the excluded."

This is the picture around the world:

ASIA

The powerful Indonesian party has gone over to the Chinese side. It disagreed with Moscow on the pace of world revolution, echoing the Chinese in proclaiming the time ripe for violent revolutionary action in Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Japanese party is split, but the majority seems to lean to the Chinese.

In India, a pro-Chinese wing is becoming increasingly vocal.

In North Viet Nam, Ho Chi Minh's party increasingly echoes the Chinese line against "revisionism." North Korea's party frequently supports Red China.

AFRICA

The Chinese are engaged in a campaign apparently aimed at freezing Soviet influence out of the revolutionary movement in Africa, similar to a parallel effort to impress upon Asia that the Soviet Union is not an Asian nation. The Chinese aim in Africa is to provoke immediate attacks on all aspects of Western influence and to produce constant revolutionary ferment.

LATIN AMERICA

The Cuban party, which Communists consider the vanguard of the revolution in Latin America, is split on the question of revolutionary policy, but Cuba relies heavily on Soviet aid.

Pro-Chinese wings are emerging in Latin America. The most obvious split is in Brazil, a nation chronically on the edge of trouble.

EUROPE

Chinese money is reported to be financing a new periodical in France called "Revolution," and opposing Soviet policy regarding the world movement.

In Belgium, a violent wing under Jacques Grippa, apparently in control of a party newspaper called People's Voice, has issued a broadside against the Moscow wing.

Scandinavian parties are divided.

In Italy, a small but vocal pro-Chinese wing is causing trouble for Palmiro Togliatti.

The Chinese infection has spread swiftly, and it may be too late for the Kremlin to apply any remedy except drastic surgery.

Voices Pleasure At Response

Fulbright Sees Speech As Aid To Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright voiced pleasure today at the response to his foreign policy speech and predicted the wide election year debate it has touched off will help the Johnson administration.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman's aim in his March 25 address was to stir up public talk on basic foreign policy issues, and he appeared to have succeeded beyond his expectations.

The Arkansas Democrat's remarks to a sparsely attended Senate last week so far have evoked:

Cautious comment from President Johnson and a mixed evaluation by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Allegations of softness - on communism from some leading Republicans and some Democrats, plus some support from both sides of the political fence.

Foreign praise and protests from Moscow to Formosa.

A far-flung but mixed editorial reaction in the United States. Bags full of mail still pouring into his office.

At latest count, aides said some 5,000 letters, telegrams and postcards had arrived from around the nation and abroad, and the ratio so far favors Fulbright's stand 4 or 5 to 1.

Fulbright lit the fuse by urging a abandonment of "old myths" in cold war attitudes in face of the "new realities" of today.

"The master myth of the cold war is that the Communist bloc is a monolith," he said.

In calling for flexibility in dealing with the growing "great variation" among the Reds, Fulbright also advocated an end to the Cuba boycott - "failure," he called it - and proposed open-mindedness about recognizing Red China some day. He said the public, Congress and executive branch should dare to explore such "unthinkable" things.

In an interview today, Fulbright said "I'm very pleased and somewhat surprised at the volume" of the response triggered by the speech.

"I do not think this is damaging to the administration at all,"

he added. "I think this is helpful to the administration in the sense that it brings those things out into the open" for public discussion.

He said he had made the speech because in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had named foreign policy as a 1964 campaign issue. The GOP candidates had only issued "a collection of generalities," he said.

Fulbright said he has not heard from Johnson since the speech nor did he consult the administration beforehand.

Czechs Stop Jamming Broadcasts By U.S.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia has stopped jamming the Czechoslovak language broadcasts of the Voice of America, apparently as the result of talks between U.S. and Czechoslovak diplomats on ways of improving relations, diplomatic sources in Belgrade report. The sources said Bulgaria and East Germany are the only Soviet bloc countries that continue to jam almost all Western broadcasts.

The New York Yankees have finished in the American year since 1925.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: May I offer a bit of advice to the college graduate who wants to be a postman because he thinks it will be a life free of pressure, aggravation and grief?

All he sees is fresh air and exercise. Well, I've been a postman for 19 years and I can tell him a few things he doesn't know.

He will have to get up at 5 a.m. and report to the terminal at 6:30. For the first two years he will "run spare" which means he may be sent anywhere in the city to deliver mail on a route he never saw before.

And there's more than mail, Friend. There are magazines, parcels, COD items, registered mail and sometimes that bloomin' bag weighs 45 pounds.

Fresh air? Indeed. Also rain, snow, sleet, fog, smog and hail. And please don't forget about those dogs who think a mailman is lunch.

I'm now kicking myself because I thought two years of high school was plenty and a civil service job meant the end of all my worries. — FLAT FEET.

Dear Feet: Thanks for the letter. It's not every day we get a letter straight from a mailman. Here's one from the wife of a colleague of yours.

Happy Wife

Dear Ann: For the last seven years I've been the wife of a postman, so I feel qualified to answer "Pick-a-Dilly."

What a man does for a living should be his choice. If the girl he wants to marry cannot be proud of him and his work, he should marry someone who can.

A college degree does not guarantee success or contentment in a job. What is important is that the man enjoy his work. My postman husband does.

His pay is not high but the work is satisfying and challenging. He is usually home when the children arrive from school. We do a great many things together, as a family.

My husband is a respected member of the community. He has made more friends than most executives make in a lifetime. He doesn't have ulcers, high blood pressure or heart trouble. I wouldn't trade him for the highest-paid executive in America. — WIFE OF A FIRST-CLASS MALE.

Dear First-Class Wife: Thanks for the cheers. You sound like the kind of gal many an executive wishes he had.

Court Of Appeals

Dear Ann: The secretary of a close friend stole $20,000 from him by altering and forging checks. This close friend is a sensitive person and was terribly upset when the theft was discovered. Now the poor soul can't decide whether to press charges or let the woman off.

My husband is an attorney and my father is a judge, so our friend feels we can make the decision for him. My husband believes the man should discharge the woman and try to recover as much of the loss as possible. She is a wife and mother and if she has to go to prison he feels it would be a terrible blow to her family.

As an attorney I say my husband ought to realize this woman committed a criminal offense and that she should pay the penalty. We have argued this back and forth and now we want your opinion. Thank you. —TEN TO ONE.

Dear One: What good are laws if people decide for themselves they are going to ignore the law and make up their own rules?

The judge will decide if this woman is entitled to probation. If she has children living at home, she conceivably could escape prison and be required to repay the money over a specified period of time.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cubs Parade For Meeting

A parade of the seven dens of Cub Scout Pack 22 of Wells-ville, highlighted the "Pack Night" meeting Tuesday in the First Christian Church. The boys wore masks and costumes they made.

The procession emphasized "Mardi Gras," the theme for the month. Den 4 was in charge of the opening ceremony with Dwight Brookman leading the flag salute, greetings given by the den and a song.

Don Hutchison, cubmaster, introduced Mrs. Alice Mackall and Mrs. Barbara Buchanan as new den mothers. He presented awards to Mike Leatherberry, Mike Kinzel, Mike Pelley, Mark Bush and David Ammon. Bobcat pins were received by Randy Mackall, Ralph Smith, Robert Lowe, Roger and Scott Mathess.

The honor banner was won by Den 6 and Den 3 had a candy sale. Games were played and the closing ceremony was conducted by Den 4. Refreshments were served 100 by mothers of Den 6. A committee meeting will be held Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the church with Leroy Geisse, committee chairman, presiding. All den mothers, Executive Board members and any interested father or mother are to attend.

Wellsville GOP Women Set Fete For Candidates

Plans were discussed for a coverdill dinner the last week of April to honor candidates at a meeting of the Wellsville Republican Women's Club Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Mary Clark, 929 Riverside Ave.

Mrs. Betty Rager, co-president, conducted business. The dinner will be held in conjunction with the Young Republicans Club and the Men's Republican Club.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford and Mervyn Kenney represented the Young Republicans and William Shoub the Men's Club.

The women decided the coverdill will mark the official kickoff of the 1964 membership drive.

A committee will make final plans at a meeting next Thursday night. The place will be announced later.

Mrs. Betty Salisbury and Mrs. Clark will represent the club at the Columbiana County Republican Women's Council meeting Friday noon at the Wick Hotel at Lisbon.

A buffet lunch was served 27 by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Bonnie Beresford.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Folks: While testing laundry methods at a friend's house, I hit upon a good idea:

There happened to be quite a few birds in the neighborhood, so, as soon as I hung up the clothes, I took an old plastic shower curtain and laid it over all of the clothesline and clipped it tightly at each corner with clothespins. The plastic curtain protected the laundry from the birds. (This is especially good for women who leave their clothes out airing for more than one day.) Besides, the plastic curtain may be hosed off.

We found that if we left our white things out two days they were even whiter. The moisture, which comes around midnight, seeps into the white sheets, pillowcases, bath towels, and diapers... and just does something to the clothes.

Then one can go outside early the next morning, remove the clothes to be ironed and they are JUST RIGHT for ironing. All one has to do is to put them in a plastic bag. (I find it is far better to fold and put the clothes into the bag instead of rolling them tightly.)

Isn't clean laundry wonderful? There's nothing that gives one more prestige in a neighborhood than white laundry, huh?

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: To measure shortening without mess, first rinse your aluminum measuring cup with hot water, but do not dry it. Then dip the cup directly into the shortening. It will fall right out—the shortening, that is!

MRS. NEAL POCK.

DEAR HELOISE: I darn my husband's socks like this: I collect all the ripped ones, pass my hand over them while saying "Darn, darn, darn" and then throw them away or save them for cleaning rags.

A.N.M.

DEAR HELOISE: To copy that favorite monogram or embroidery pattern from, say a blouse—to a pillowcase, lay the pillowcase over the monogram or blouse. Rub a silver spoon in your hair first and then rub it over the pillow slip—applying a little pressure. Repeat, rubbing the spoon in your hair as often as necessary.

Result? A quick, accurate, pattern of the embroidery underneath. Then the monogram can be embroidered any way you like, especially on these new sewing machines which make all the fancy stitching.

MRS. LEONARD FAUCETT.

Oh-h-h!, gals. I just took a monogram off one of my prettiest napkins in this method. Lay the monogrammed article on your ironing board (it must be on something soft I found out) and rub briskly with the silver spoon. It works like magic but you'll never believe it until you try it.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: How many people have ever been annoyed by having the cork of a thermos bottle pop up after they have poured in the contents...

Did you know that if you dip the cork in a bowl of sugar before putting it in the hot liquid that it won't pop up? Try it. It works.

CHARLES.

DEAR HELOISE: When I give someone a wedding gift,

I always enclose several old rags (clean, of course). Terry towels, old sheets, flannel, etc., are so welcome because it takes years before the bride's things wear out enough to be used for "dirty" work. I've had many thanks from girls I've given these to in the past. (Be sure to add a note to these so she will know what they are for...)

For kitchen showers I buy a plastic bucket, dishdrainer, sponges, some spray wax, a bottle of household ammonia, and put in some of the soft rags. This isn't very glamorous but each one of the brides-to-be has come to me later to say how much she appreciated it.

We "old married gals" know that it is this eternal list of items that takes so much money out of a new wife's already squeezed budget.

White House Observes 400th Anniversary Of Shakespeare

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

WHITE HOUSE - SHAKESPEARE: The White House observed the 400th anniversary of William Shakespeare's birth Wednesday with a special performance of scenes from "The Taming of the Shrew."

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and daughters Lynda Bird and Luci Baines were joined by 200 children of members of Congress in the East Ballroom for the wedding and wedding scenes of the Shakespeare play, performed by the Catholic University Players.

President Johnson stuck his head in briefly, commented "Oh, it's already started," nodded to his wife and left to return to his office.

SILVER CERTIFICATES: A Federal Reserve official says the government will probably stop issuing $1 silver certificates next summer.

The $1 silver certificates are being replaced with the new $1 Federal Reserve note authorized by Congress last year.

Even after issuance of silver certificates stops, it will be some time before they disappear from circulation. A dollar bill lasts an average of 18 months, but some last longer.

The Treasury plans to continue issuing $5 silver notes.

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA: The U.S. Information Agency says Communist propaganda aimed at the West reached a record high of 4,288 hours a week in 1963.

This represents an 11 per cent increase over 1962, USIA said Wednesday.

Meetings Set For Cherokee Scout District

Plans for a commissioners training session and a roundtable meeting were discussed when the Cherokee Boy Scout District commissioners' staff met Wednesday night at the home of Warren Lincoln, 310 Elizabeth St.

The training session is set for April 11 at the Old Stone House at Camp McKinley at Lisbon. Registration will get underway at 1:30 p. m.

Walter Jordan, roundtable commissioner, said the roundtable session will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

Ralph Brewer, scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 26, will discuss pioneer camping. Mrs. Mary Jones will be in charge of the Cub Scout den mothers and David O'Hanlon, cubmaster of Pack 36, the cubber adults. Troop leaders and committeemen are to attend, Jordan said.

It was announced that a commissioner will be present each week of the summer camp at Camp Twin Spruce at Leesville Lake, to assist the camp staff.

Several of the scout units of the district have not re-registered for the new charter year, it was reported, and ways to clear up late charters were discussed.

Milton Reese, district commissioner, presided.

Mrs. Lincoln served refreshments to 14.

Next staff meeting will be May 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bettridge of Hillcrest, Wellsville.

Ceramic Tariff Will Be Aired At Cleveland May 4

A Department of Commerce official will discuss U. S. trade and tariff negotiations affecting the ceramic industry at a meeting of Northern Ohio ceramists May 4 in Cleveland.

The address will be presented at a meeting of the Northern Ohio Chapter of the American Ceramic Society in the Cleveland Engineering and Scientific Center, 3100 Chester Ave.

Speaker will be Harold T. Lamar, director of the import policy staff of the Commerce Department's Office of Commercial and Financial Policy, Bureau of International Commerce.

Lamar has been working on the negotiations on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and will answer any questions "on the U.S. posture in international trade with respect to the ceramic industry."

Lamar will share the platform with William Crandall of the Pfaunder Co. at Rochester, N. Y., who will discuss the Japanese ceramic industry. Further details are available from the Cleveland field office of the Commerce Department.

Ankle Sprain Suffered By Woman At Newell

A Newell woman who suffered an ankle sprain and two area youngsters hurt in separate mishaps were treated Wednesday at City Hospital.

Mrs. Doris Morlan, county juvenile deputy, said the winner will compete April 18 at a state contest at Hamilton Township school in Franklin County.

'WHO DUNNIT?' Don Montgomery, extreme right, portrays a detective who must question various suspects in the two-act mystery, entitled "The Mousetrap," to be presented by the Senior Class of Wellsville High School Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15 at the school auditorium. Seated left to right are John Graham, Sue Waite and Louis Heiney. Standing are Mary Jane Milligan and Ken Dickinson. Other members of the cast are Karen Frontz, Karen Maylone and Keith Serafy.

Orientation Tea Held

Past Presidents Speakers For BPW Club's Initiates

Past presidents were speakers at the orientation tea for initiates of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel.

Mrs. Ethel Wambaugh, charter president and state personal development chairman, spoke on the federation and by-laws. She outlined various phases of the work and stressed each must share the responsibility of the program to receive full benefits of membership.

In speaking of the history of the organization, Miss Helen Bibbee touched on the highlights since the club was chartered in 1939. She listed the diversified program of activities and the projects, including those promoted for fund raising for community welfare.

Mrs. Helen Moore evaluated the finances of the club, emphasizing where the membership dues are allocated, including what portion is sent to state and national.

Structure of the standing committees was outlined by Mrs.

Nessie Dunlop. The three program areas covered are the personal development committee, with recognition to the individual; the civic participation committee, where community activity is developed, and the world affairs committee, stressing responsibility to peace efforts through various channels.

Miss Alberta Abrams, chairman of the federation committee, who arranged the program, made the introductions. Mrs. Doris McKinnon, president, extended the welcome.

Following the flag salute, the group repeated the Club Collect. Miss Roberta Pennybaker, membership chairman, spoke on the regular monthly dinner session next Wednesday at the hotel when the new members will be initiated.

Refreshments were served at a buffet table highlighted with royal blue tapers in three-tier crystal candelabra on royal blue maline. Spring bonnets of styrofoam, featuring gold spray-ting. Mrs. McKinnon poured at the silver service.

The committee was comprised of Mrs. Jean Conrad, Mrs. Bonnie Frazier, Mrs. Clara Lowers, Mrs. Ila Pietsch, Mrs. Verna Smith and Mrs. Lela Werkheiser.

Firemen To Buy Truck, Car Radio

SUMMITVILLE — Purchase of shortwave radio transceivers for the Franklin Township volunteer fire department's fire truck and emergency car was authorized by the department trustees at a meeting Wednesday night.

Purchase of radios was approved late last year, but canceled due to lack of a base station. In March, however, county commissioners approved purchase of equipment for a base station to be operated by the sheriff's office at Lisbon for county fire units.

The equipment for the township vehicles will be obtained from Donald Todd of Youngstown, representative of the Motorola Corp.

Discussion was held on preparing rules for the use of the emergency car. Bills totaling $38 were paid. Ralph Cox, president, was in charge.

Next meeting will be May 6.

Driver Unhurt In Road Crash

A Columbiana man escaped injury although his car was extensively damaged in a crash on Route 213 two and a half miles south of the junction with Route 7 at Yellow Creek at 1:30 a. m. today.

Milton Lockhart, 23, was headed south when he lost control of his car on a curve, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol. The car went off the left side of the highway, down an embankment and onto railroad tracks.

Lockhart was cited for speeding in excess of road conditions.

James C. Spencer, 51, of 1070 Mapletree St. reported to the patrol Wednesday at 1:45 p. m. that he was involved in an accident over four hours earlier on Route 7 about a mile south of Toronto.

Spencer said he was forced off the highway at 9:15 a. m. by an oncoming vehicle and ran into an embankment. Spencer told officers he drove to East Liverpool and then returned to report the mishap.

Mrs. Peabody Due To Face Federal Court

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, one of the civil rights demonstrators in St. Augustine, Fla., gets out of jail today to testify in federal court.

The 72-year-old mother of the governor of Massachusetts was to tell U.S. District Judge Bryan Simpson why she thinks the 285 arrested in St. Augustine should be placed under federal jurisdiction.

Four others also were expected to testify although Judge Simpson indicated Wednesday that he would not take jurisdiction from the St. Augustine courts.

In St. Augustine, leaders of the integration movement said they might issue a nationwide call for more demonstrators to fill the jails.

"It may be necessary to bring in part of our nonviolent army that we have recruited from all over the country," said the Rev. Bernard Lee of Atlanta, an aide to the Rev. Martin Luther King. He said King also might come to St. Augustine.

Mayor Joseph Shelley told a news conference the demonstrations had failed.

Shelley said public facilities in St. Augustine were integrated. He said privately owned facilities were segregated "the same as Washington, New York, Boston and Chicago."

Attorneys for the demonstrators told Judge Simpson Wednesday the defendants could not get fair trials in St. Johns County or other Florida courts. Bails, ranging from $100 to $1,000 were termed excessive and the federal judge was asked at least to reduce them.

Southern Local's Senior Play Set Tonight, Friday

SALINEVILLE — The Southern Local High School Senior Class play, "Man Overboard," a comedy-mystery, will be presented tonight and Friday night at 8 at the high school auditorium.

The cast for the three-act play includes Duane Marheka, Joe Fanelli, Charles Gurthrie, Terry Kamper, Andris Balputnis, Keith Boucher, Mary Doyle, Gayle Johnson, Darlene Irvine, Tyi Tennola.

Judy Wright, John Wilson, Bill Forbes, David Orr, Glenn Pitts, Frances Parsons, Jan Clapsaddle, Bill Hays, Merriether Clutter, Jennifer Needham, Sharon Kellison, Joyce Winters, Ed Baker, Darlene Owens and Barbara Beverly.

The play concerns a diplomat and his important papers which disappear on a pleasure cruise.

Miss Darlene Balmos, social studies instructor, is faculty advisor and director.

Proceeds from the play will be used for the class trip, tentatively planned for the New York World's Fair.

What About Midgets?

ROME — There's never any argument on Rome buses about whether a child is still young enough to ride free or must pay the fare. If the child's head is higher than the ticket seller's shelf, the fare must be paid. If the child doesn't stand that tall (one meter, or 39 inches) he rides free.

Midland District Panel Set On Proposed School Merger

The Pennsylvania law governing redistricting of school districts will be explained to Midland, Western Beaver and South Side area residents at a panel discussion meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at The Willows Motel in Industry.

W. Scott Bliss, vice president of development for Geneva College, will be the moderator. The meeting is being sponsored by the Western Beaver County Area Development Committee.

Panelists will include an educator from each of the three school districts in the Western Beaver County Area: Frank Meredith, supervising principal of Western Beaver County Schools of Industry, Ohioville and Glasgow Boroughs, Victor Thomas, supervising principal of South Side Schools near Hookstown, and William A. Walters, principal of Midland High School.

The fourth panelist will be Dr. Milton J. Edger, secretary and former president of the Hope-Well-Independence - Racoon School District.

John Joseph of Ohioville, president of the WBCADC, will give the welcome and explain the general goals of the organization. Mrs. R. D. Paisley of Midland, public information committee chairman, will explain the purpose of the panel discussion and Homer Paul of Industry, education committee chairman, will introduce Mr. Bliss.

Cards and pencils will be available at the door for those attending to write down any questions for panel members to answer. The audience may also submit written questions as the discussion progresses.

A welcoming committee, appointed by Joseph, includes Sylvester Vranes of Midland, chairman, Charles Camp of Smiths Ferry, Glenn Dawson, James McGhee, Glen Gibson and Earl Hineman, all of Industry; Mrs. Aaron Golding, Mrs. Clem Migliore and Ernest Dostilak, all of Midland; Mrs. Hazel Walker of Shippingport, and Mrs. Dorothea Brooks of Hookstown.

Mrs. John Waddingham of Midland and Mrs. Louis Perry of Industry R. D. 1 are co-chairmen of the telephone committee.

Jaycees To Hold Special Program On Anniversary

Plans were started Wednesday night for the 25th anniversary celebration of the founding of the East Liverpool Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The planning committee held its initial meeting at the home of Jack Hales of Blackmore St., a former officer and life member.

The observance will be held in conjunction with the annual inaugural ball. Tentative plans call for the dinner-dance to be held at The Willows Motel near Industry.

A prominent speaker will be obtained. All past presidents and former Jaycees will be sent special invitations.

No definite date has been set, but it will be announced shortly, the committee said.

The committee includes Hales, Ed Adkins, Robert Lewis, Dale Kidd, Keith Goodman, Dick Chadwick and Robert Garner. Garner is chairman of the inaugural ball and will help coordinate the two events.

The event will also mark the local observance of Jaycee Week, which is ordinarily held in January.

Rogers Child Slightly Hurt When Hit By Car

An 8-year-old Rogers area girl escaped serious injury when struck by a small auto on Route 7 Wednesday afternoon, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Deborah Ann Boggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boggs of Lisbon R. D. 3, was treated by a physician for an abrasion of the left knee after she was struck by an auto operated by Ed P. Smith, 45, of Berkshire Rd., East Liverpool.

Officers said Smith was heading south on Route 7 about four miles south of Rogers when the girl ran from the left side of the roadway in front of the 1960 imported sedan. The mishap occurred at 4 p.m.

GOP Event Set For Taft

A breakfast for Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr., Republican candidate for U. S. Senator, will be held later this month, it was announced at a joint meeting of the East Liverpool Men's and Women's Republican Clubs Wednesday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

The time and place will be announced later. Frank Fluno is general chairman.

Some 100 attended the combined meeting at which candidates for state, district and county offices spoke.

Attending were Colin Neal, representing Allen J. Dalrymple, 18th District congressional candidate; Nils P. Johnson, John A. Reddy and Henry C. Robinson for 7th District Court of Appeals; Robert M. Bell and George W. Crim, for 18th District state central committee; Letha Astry, for 18th District state central committee; woman, and State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel.

Walter A. Hunston, Robert P. Kelm, Wilbur Stratton, Samuel B. Webber, Donald W. Elliott and Galen H. Greenisen, commissioner; Dean Rose, clerk of courts; County Recorder Richard G. Brian; R. Dale Miller, county treasurer, and Charles O. Snyder, county engineer.

Richard T. Judge and Mrs. Ruth Crawford, presidents, presided. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Dorothy Shone, Mrs. Jean Saucer, Mrs. Delores Pelley and Mrs. Grace Cartwright.

Twilight Zone

HARTFORD, Ky. — Anna Fay Autry often reminds her friends of a visit she received from outer space while she was watching television. A half-pound metallic object crashed through the window of her home. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Autry sent it to geological-survey authorities in Washington. They said it was a meteorite.

Regional PTA Conference Scheduled At Beech Bottom

Region 10 of the West Virginia PTA Congress, which includes Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall and Wetzel Counties, has scheduled a conference Friday in the Beech Bottom School auditorium.

Registration will begin at 7:15 p.m. with the conference opening at 7:30. Mrs. Claudius Ford, first vice president of the Hancock County Council, will be in charge of registration.

Mrs. James Greathouse of Beech Bottom, regional director, will preside. The theme will be "On With Action."

Invocation will be given by Mrs. John Stankiewicz of Weirton, international relations chairman; the pledge of allegiance by Wilbur Bickmeyer of Wheeling, state publicity chairman, and the welcome by Robert Lindsey Jr., superintendent of Brooke County schools.

A teen-age panel comprised of two senior high school students from Weir, Triadelphia, Moundsville, Magnolia and Follansbee High Schools will speak on the conference theme. George Woods Jr., Wetzel County High School supervisor, will be moderator. Douglas Blynn and Lucetta Payton of Weir High School will participate.

A brief refreshment break will be followed by five group meetings, with county council presidents and their secretaries leading the groups. Council presidents are Mrs. Charles Wagner, Hancock; Mrs. Harold Griffin, Brooke; Mrs. Arthur Schuler, Ohio; Merritt Allender, Marshall, and Page Keener, Wetzel.

A question-and-answer period will close the conference, with Mrs. Greathouse moderator. An award to the county group with the most attendance will be presented by Mrs. Greathouse.

Mrs. James Boltz of Moundsville, PTA publications chairman, will be in charge of exhibits. Those desiring transportation may contact Mrs. Claudius Ford in New Cumberland, Mrs. Ted Owiczynski of Weirton or Mrs. Mabel Wagner in Chester.

2 Clubs Tour Midland Firm

Two Beaver Valley women's groups toured the Crucible Steel Co.'s Midland Works Tuesday night, going through flat rolled products division.

About 80 members of the Rochester Junior Women's Club and Jessemine Chapter 234, Order of Eastern Star of Midland, participated. Following dinner in the management diningroom and a brief program, both groups toured the hot and cold strip departments, agricultural department and the stainless service center.

Glenn B. Roberts, superintendent of community relations, welcomed the groups.

Seven area civic clubs or organizations toured the Midland plant during March and another five are scheduled for April, including members of St. Ann's Catholic Church of East Liverpool, Beaver Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants, East Liverpool Lions Club, management employees of the Armstrong Cork Co. of Beaver Falls, and the Rochester Business and Professional Women's Club.

Wellsville Group Voted $100 For Scholarship Aid

The Wellsville Omni Boosters Club Wednesday night voted a $100 donation to the Citizens Scholarship Foundation.

The action came after William Ferrall spoke on "Dollars for Scholars." Ferrall is chairman of the fund drive in Wellsville.

Anyone desiring to make a donation may contact Ferrall at LE. 2-1360. The money is used to provide advanced education for worthy students.

In other business, final plans were reviewed for the all-sports banquet next Thursday night at the First Methodist Church.

Some 170 reservations have been made. Coach Victor McIntire of the Cleveland area, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan McIntire of Center St., will be guest speaker.

Jerry Kiggins, president, conducted business. Next meeting will be April 15.

Physical Fitness Club To Conduct Bake Sale

Plans for a bake sale April 11 at Crook's Furniture Store were completed when the East Liverpool Physical Fitness Class met Wednesday night in the Eagles Lodge. Mrs. Mary Ellen Broadbent is chairman.

The march to the music of a kitchen band was led by Mrs. Elizabeth Papuzak and Miss Carol Flasco. Exercises to records was led by Mrs. Mary Sanford, president. Members of the Wellsville group will be guests at Wednesday night's meeting.

Twenty-five were present, including four new members. Next session will be Monday night and members are to bring homemade musical kitchen instruments.

2 More Families Hear From Kin In Alaska

Parents of a family residing in Alaska have been advised by air mail notice that they escaped unharmed in the earthquake.

They are Army Sgt. and Mrs. Benford Gipson and their four children. The mother's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hunston Richardson, 1092 High St., and the serviceman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Gipson, 731 Dewey Ave. Sgt. Gipson has been stationed at Ft. Richardson, near Anchorage, about two years.

Palestine Concert Set

EAST PALESTINE — The community chorus will present the annual spring concert Tuesday, April 14, at 7:30 at the high school auditorium, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. The choir has 60 members from the area. Mrs. Ellen Wilhelm is director. A rehearsal will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 at the Methodist Church.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Patrick O'Brien At The Players Club

"So this old boy comes up to me and says, 'Pat O'Brien! Why, I remember seeing you in the movies when I was in knee pants!' 'You do, do you?' said I and he went on to tell me he was 58. Well, I'm 64 and I can do some figurin'."

"My first picture, 'The Front Page,' Alan Gill came out in 1931, just 33 years ago. That would make this guy 25 at the time. I told him, 'You musta looked pretty damn silly in those short pants o' yours.'"

WHITE HAIR now crowns that benign police commissioner's mug of his, but Pat O'Brien, as he held court at the bar of the Players (a men's club) the other day, still can dance a jig with the best of them and tell a story, too.

He's been going about the country with a night club act that's straight nostalgia, heaped high and served plain. There are Knute Rockne's locker-room speech in it, and the tale of the fellow who complained to the ticket agent that the two clocks in the waiting room were 10 minutes apart ("Well, if they were both the same, would they have need of only one, wouldn't we?"), and the crooning of "What Is a Little Girl?" for a tearful finish.

PAT'S WIFE of 33 years, Eloise Taylor, and he will be touring in stock through the months ahead, just as they have over the last five years.

An autobiography, "The Wind at My Back," will arrive in the bookstores next fall. And, more immediately, the man is starring in a "Bob Hope Theater" melodrama, "A Case of Armed Robbery," Friday (8:30 p. m.).

"Everybody thinks I play a cop all the time," O'Brien said, "but I don't think I've been a harness bull more than twice."

"Plainclothesmen? Oh, a few times. Wardens, Yah. But take this TV show. I play an ex-con. The thing takes place in an amusement park. Tony Franciosa is a character who wants me to help him crack a safe."

"I realize he's a psycho and I want no part of it. And there you've got your story, huh?"

BUT EVEN if we've seldom seen Pat O'Brien in a brass-buttoned blue coat, the rigors and perils of maintaining law and order have played a prominent role in the man's career.

This was illustrated one night recently on the "Tonight" show when Johnny Carson spliced a number of old Pat O'Brien scenes together—all of them featuring, almost word for word, the line, "Give me the gun."

James Cagney, Humphrey Bogart and every other mug working at Warners in those days had, at one time or another, to give Pat O'Brien his gun. "I've worked the thing into my act," said Pat, "ending up with Bogart shooting me in the gut in 'Fighting Father Dunne.' I'm thinking of asking the drummer to go bop-bop-bop-bop for me as I go down and maybe the horns going into 'When the Saints Go Marching In.' Do you think it's any good?"

HE WENT through it for the benefit of a few old timers at the Players and they agreed it was good.

In this fine old house on New York's Gramercy Park—a house bequeathed to actors of the masculine persuasion by the great Edwin Booth—a warm hospitality reigns.

A visitor is introduced to each of the men poised about the pool table or at the bar and one is shaking hands now with Raymond Walburn, then with Dennis King, then Ernest Boyd, and so on and on.

The anecdote reigns supreme. One of the oldest Players throws his arms about O'Brien and places his ear to O'Brien's mouth so that a reminiscence of the 'Thirties can be shouted home.

OR IF IT isn't a reminiscence, then it might be an Irish tribute.

"Kipling said that where there is Ireland, there is fightin' and lovin'; and where there is neither, there is Ireland no more. And it took an Englishman named Kipling to write it."

Of course, Pat O'Brien is not a County Mayo boy. He's from County Manhattan. And as you come down the small elevator with him—after he's taken you through the library, introduced you to his son, Terrence Kevin, who's there boning up on his theater history, and shown you the bedroom where Edwin Booth died—he talks fondly of New York.

"My father used to say, 'There's only one Paris and that's New York.' And of course he was a man who'd never traveled much beyond his own street corner."

Wellsville To Conduct School Signup 2 Days

Registration for kindergarten and first grade students will be held at Wellsville's MacDonal School Monday and Tuesday from 9 to 11 a. m. and 12:30 to 3 p. m., according to John Mackov, principal.

State Group Ban On Band 'Sticks'

The West Virginia Secondary School Activities Commission is standing by its decision against a trip to the New York World's Fair this month by the Weir High School marching band.

Supt. Robert H. Hall announced today the commission's stand is final. It could impose a penalty against the school if the band went without formal commission approval.

The commission said last week the 120-member band couldn't go to New York because it hadn't participated in a regional music festival at Clarksburg last year.

W. Gordon Eismen, executive secretary, said however that the band would be permitted to go to the World's Fair in June if it plays in a band festival scheduled for Clarksburg in May.

State Sen. William Tompos (D) of Weirton has threatened to sue the activities commission if it doesn't relent in the matter.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Restraint Urged In Rearing Children

President Grayson Kirk of Columbia University, in an address at the University's Memorial Service for John Fitzgerald Kennedy, made some remarks of interest to parents.

Referring to dangers to which we must become more alert, he said: "The press, radio, television, through their emphasis upon the reporting of violence, often go beyond their basic need to keep us informed...."

"In the home, the extreme permissiveness of our modern parents breeds in their children contempt for all authority, a contempt that takes its toll in broken youthful lives and bewildered parents who try to evade responsibility for their own failures by casting the blame on others."

IN RECENT MONTHS and years, you have heard or read from a number of eminent leaders and writers similar condemnation of the prevailing practice of excessive permissiveness by parents in bringing up children. These critics see a positive relationship between this trend and the increase of vandalism and crime among teenagers, the rapid rise of juvenile delinquency.

Whereas most speakers and writers on such matters tend to blame juvenile delinquency almost solely on poverty, they are beginning to recognize that juvenile delinquency is not a respecter of economic levels.

Indeed, they are writing and talking more and more about the appalling increase of waywardness among children of the so-called privileged and educated parents.

Those who have read this column for 30 years know that I have consistently pleaded with parents to restrain their children, reasonably, especially in their early years, teaching them to respect the little No.

THESE READERS also know that I have constantly maintained that parents with education and social prestige are the ones who can do most to curb excessive permissiveness in child rearing in the United States.

Here let me plead again with intelligent parents to make sure they bring up their children with wholesome restraints, with due regard for authority and respect for the rights of others. If they do so, parents in lesser circumstances will tend to emulate them.

Among the persons most often looked up to in their respective communities are: the President of the P.T.A., the leaders in the local church or synagogue, the presidents of men's and women's civic clubs, the women of the Junior League, and other men and women who are leaders in civic affairs.

Should these and other persons of prestige the nation over bring up a few generations of well-disciplined children, juvenile delinquency would drop and the general moral tone of our nation would rise.

IN THE MEANWHILE, let all the do-good groups turn their attention to the building of good citizenship among their own children first, and then to such among the children of the underprivileged areas.

My bulletins, "A Parent's Prayer" and "How Juvenile Delinquency Can Be Curbed," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Should Switch Leagues

Braves Continue To Sweep Past All American League Opposition

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports
Are the Milwaukee Braves the best team in the American League?

From the way the National League Braves have manhandled league opposition you get that feeling — but it's just one facet of the supremacy the NL is establishing in inter-league battles with the AL during the exhibition baseball season.

Triggered by Hank Aaron's fifth homer, the Braves won their 10th consecutive game from American League opposition Wednesday, adding the Chicago White Sox to their list of victims, 5-3.

The Braves' list now includes every one of the seven AL teams training in Florida. In 11 games against AL opposition, only the Washington Senators have managed a victory against the Braves — they did it in the first game.

The Braves' victory was one of three by NL teams Wednesday on a five-game inter-league program, and lifted the National League's lead to 2-1 in games between the two circuits. National League teams have won 66 games, AL clubs 33.

Behind Milwaukee in the inter-league standings are the San Francisco Giants, 15-2 against AL opposition. National League domination is so complete that even the New York Mets, who are 6-2, have a better percentage in inter-league play than any American League team.

Besides Milwaukee, the Dodgers and Chicago Cubs beat American League opposition Wednesday while the Los Angeles Angels and Baltimore recorded victories against NL teams.

The Dodgers shelled Minnesota pitching for 15 hits—three by batting champion Tommy Davis — en route to a 7-3 victory protected by Larry Sherry's four scoreless innings of pitching. Merritt Ranew hit a decisive homer and Ron Santo stroked two doubles and a single in the Cubs' 8-7 decision over the Red Sox.

The Angels provided the day's batting star as outfielder Lee Thomas hit two homers—one a grand slam—and collected six runs batted in during a 10-7 thumping of the Giants. The Orioles did it with pitching as Robin Roberts and Harvey Haddix combined for a two-hitter in a 4-0 shutout of Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere, the other half of the White Sox' split squad walloped Washington 12-7. Johnny Blanchard and Tony Kubek provided all the runs with homers in the Yankees' 4-2 triumph over Detroit. Tracy Stallard of the Mets shut out Cincinnati 3-0 on six hits and Johnny Lewis hit a game-winning three-run homer in St. Louis' 6-5 victory over Philadelphia.

The Houston Colts collected only two hits off Oklahoma City pitching but managed a 4-0 victory over their Pacific Coast League farm club.

Hawks Rally To Surprise Frisco Five

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO — St. Louis finessed keeps the pressure on the muscular young San Francisco Warriors in the National Basketball Association's Western playoff finals and the pressure proved too much, at least in the opening game.

Leading by 20 points four minutes into the second quarter, the Warriors faltered and the Hawks' play of such veterans as Richie Guerin, Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit brought the Hawks a 116-111 victory.

So in the West the St. Louis club leads 1-0 and meets the Warriors at the Cow Palace in game No. 2 on Friday night. Boston leads Cincinnati 1-0 in the East with their second meeting tonight in Boston.

Wilt Chamberlain hit 16 points as the Warriors built a 33-20 first-quarter lead and they built it to a 47-27 advantage before the Hawks began surging back.

Hagan held the hot shooting hand with 13 second-quarter points as the Hawks narrowed the count to 58-54 at the half. Pettit took over the guarding of Chamberlain for the period and held him to five.

In the second half it was Guerin's turn and he scored 23 points, bringing his total to 32, second only to Chamberlain's 37. Fourteen of Richie's points came on free throws.

Hagan suffered a bruised knee in the second half and Len Wilkens turned an ankle, but both are expected back in action for the Hawks on Friday night.

Hagan, used sparingly in the second half, scored 23 for St. Louis. Center Zelmo Beaty hit for 24 including 18 in the second half.

Birdie Tebbetts Has Heart Attack

TUCSON, Ariz. — Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cleveland Indians, apparently suffered a heart attack Wednesday night but hospital officials said indications were there was no immediate danger to his life.

Tebbetts was carried out on a stretcher from the HiwayHouse Hotel where the Indians are staying during the spring training season in Tucson.

He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

A physician at the hospital said early today that Tebbetts definitely suffered a coronary, but is in satisfactory condition. The Indians were idle Wednesday, but held a workout.

Indians' General Manager Gabe Paul said Tebbetts complained about chest pains a short time before he was taken to the hospital.

Tebbetts, who makes his home in Anna Maria, Fla., is 54.

Marilyn Smith Picked To Win At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Marilyn Smith established herself as a favorite to win the St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf Tournament starting today when she turned in the low card in the pre-am preliminary.

However, she didn't get the $1,000 prize money because her team was disqualified when an amateur member was discovered to have posted a wrong card. Her round of 70, four under women's par on the 6,247-yard Sunset Country Club course, was lowest in the field of 37 pros.

They teed off today in quest of the $10,000 in prize money offered for the 72-hole tournament.

World's Top Swimmers Go To Mark

By BOB HARING
BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — An Olympic-flavored match between some of the world's best swimmers highlighted today's opening of the Men's National AAU Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships.

The first event, the 400-yard individual medley, pitted West Germany's record-holding Gerhard Hetz against America's top all-round swimmers.

In the second opening-day feature, Roy Saari started his bid for a third straight triple victory against a 1,650-yard freestyle field led by high school boy Don Schollander.

Preliminary competition this afternoon determined the six finalists who will meet tonight in the individual medley finals. The winner of the 1,650 will be determined by comparative times of heats this afternoon and tonight.

Hetz' coach, Janos Satori, said the winner of the medley here could turn out to be the Olympic champion to be crowned next fall in Tokyo.

He named the chief challengers as Rich McGeah of the University of Southern California, who set an American record of 16.4 minutes at last week's National Collegiate Championships; Dick Rothe of Santa Clara, Calif. high school junior, and possibly Ed Townsend, a close runner-up to McGeah last week.

This will be Hetz' first competition in an American meet and first try at the 400-yard distance, though he holds the world's record in the 400-meter medley.

Saari won the 400-yard medley at last year's AAU, but is expected to pass it up this year. The Saari-Schollander duel features an unorthodox swimmer against a technically perfect swimmer.

Saari, defending champion in the 1,650 and holder of the world's record at 1,500 meters, uses the regular flutter kick only when he shifts to his "speed stroke." Most of the time he uses a sort of a side stroke scissors kick. Schollander sticks to the standard flutter kick with a style regarded as beautifully correct. Schollander, also a Santa Clara high schooler, has been Saari's chief rival in the distance events.

The top six Americans in each event will qualify for Olympic trials next July.

Pizarro Ends Long Holdout With Chisox

MIAMI, Fla. — Juan Pizarro, 27-year-old Chicago White Sox pitcher, ended his holdout Wednesday by signing a contract for an estimated $25,000.

The Puerto Rican southpaw, who had a 16-8 record last year, got an estimated 20 per cent pay raise over his 1963 salary.

Trials Will Open Today

Nation's Best Court Men Vie For Olympic Berths

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — The U.S. Olympic Basketball Trials get under way at St. John's University today and never was it more true that "it matters not who won nor lost, but how they played the game."

Of course, that's not exactly what the late Grantland Rice had in mind. In fact, basketball wasn't even a part of the Olympic program when he penned the words in the '20s, but it certainly fits the situation.

The trials consist of a three-day, eight-team tourney that ends Saturday. The teams are made up of all-stars from the NCAA, the NAIA, AAU and armed services. Each team plays three games, but the results don't really matter.

The U.S. Olympic Selection Committee will make its choices by individuals, not teams. They'll select 12 players, plus six alternates, to represent the United States in the Tokyo Olympics this fall.

Selection to the team is virtually the same thing as winning a gold medal. The United States never has lost a basketball game in Olympic competition and will be a prohibitive favorite to take it all again. Since World War II, no team has come closer than 24 points to the U.S. aggregation.

And with the field of 96 candidates for the 12 berths, it appears certain that coach Henry Iba of Oklahoma State should have another winner.

Most of the All-America and Little All-America selections are included.

While none of them are assured of spots on the team, top candidates have to include Walt Hazzard of UCLA, Lucious Jackson of Pan American College, Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Cotton Nash of Kentucky, Cazzie Russel of Michigan, Ron Bonham of Cincinnati, Bill Bradley of Princeton, Willie Shaw of Lane College, Larry Pursiful of the Phillips 66ers and Willie Murrell of Kansas State.

The NCAA has three teams of all-stars in the field; the NAIA, representing the nation's small colleges, has one, and the AAU and armed services two each.

Race Fan Collects Second Twin Double

NEW ORLEANS — That old maxim about lightning never striking twice in the same place doesn't hold true as far as the twin double at Jefferson Downs race track is concerned.

Clarence Falcon, a sugar mill worker from Thibodaux, La., collected a $9,213 twin double at the suburban New Orleans half-mile track Wednesday night.

Last spring Falcon cashed in a twin double ticket worth $8,372.40.

Boxer Dies From Injuries Received In 1962 Fight

BUENOS AIRES — Funeral services were scheduled today for Alejandro Lavorante, former Argentine heavyweight boxing champion who died more than a year and a half after collapsing at the end of a fight in Los Angeles.

Lavorante, 27, died Wednesday in Mendoza, never having fully regained consciousness. He was knocked out Sept. 21, 1962, by heavyweight Johnny Riggins and then underwent three delicate brain operations.

"I just kept hoping and praying he would come through," Riggins said in San Francisco upon hearing of Lavorante's death. "He was a good fighter and could have gone up."

The 1962 bout was stopped in the sixth round after Riggins, who appeared to be trailing through the first four rounds, landed three solid rights in the fifth and sixth. Lavorante returned to his corner, then slumped off his stool unconscious.

An emergency brain operation was performed to remove a blood clot. A 3-by-5-inch section of his skull was removed in a second operation to relieve pressure but later was reinserted.

Lavorante remained in Los Angeles until May 4, 1963, when he was taken back to Argentina. He received therapeutic treatment at a clinic, then returned home.

Prior to the Riggins' knockout, Lavorante had been stopped by Archie Moore and knocked out by Cassius Clay, all within six months. Before the three fights, he had been rated fifth in the heavyweight class.

Calvary Cagers Honored At Fete

Members of the Calvary Methodist Church basketball team were honored at a banquet Tuesday night at the church.

Ed Stevens, head football coach at Beaver Local High School was guest speaker.

Homer Moore was introduced as coach of the Calvary team and the Rev. Irwin Jennings served as master of ceremonies.

Parents of the players were guests and Mrs. Maxine March was dinner chairman.

Shue Retires, Had 10 Years In Pro Loop

BALTIMORE — Gene Shue, at one time the highest-scoring guard in the National Basketball Association, announced today his retirement from professional basketball.

Shue, only native Baltimorean ever to play in the NBA, wound up his 10-year career in his home town. The Baltimore Bullets acquired Shue early this season along with center Paul Hogue in a deal which sent center Billy McGill to the New York Knickerbockers.

Shue's retirement came as no great surprise. He was used sparingly by the Bullets during the last half of the season, and did not dress for a number of games.

"I feel that the time has come for me to leave the active playing end of professional basketball," Shue said.

Shue, who lives in suburban Timonium, said he will continue his association with a Baltimore insurance company.

Shue started his career at the University of Maryland.

Shue played five seasons at Detroit, one at Fort Wayne, one-half season at Philadelphia and 2½ seasons with New York before coming to Baltimore.

During his stay at Detroit, Shue became the highest scoring guard in probasketball history. His highest average with the Pistons was 22.8 points a game.

Canadiens, Wings Picked To Take 3-1 Playoff Lead

By The Associated Press
The Stanley Cup hockey semifinal playoffs resume tonight with the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings each favored to take a commanding 3-1 lead over the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Chicago Black Hawks, respectively. Montreal is at Toronto and Chicago at Detroit.

The Canadiens, who won the National Hockey League championship by one point over Chicago during the regular season, feel they have the Maple Leafs on the run especially since they won 3-2 on Toronto ice Tuesday.

"We have them on the run," is the way Montreal Coach Toe Blake put it. "We carried the play to them and caused the Leafs to start blind passing. We won a lot of games that way this season."

Chicago's woes seem more difficult at Detroit. The Black Hawks haven't won on Detroit ice in 12 games and absorbed a 3-0 shutout from goalie Terry Sawchuk of the Wings Tuesday. Sawchuk spent Wednesday in a hospital bed in traction to ease the pain of a pinched nerve in his left shoulder and neck area. Doctors said he would be able to play tonight, however.

Wake Forest Signs First Negro Athlete

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — The Winston-Salem Journal said Wednesday Wake Forest College has signed its first Negro athlete to a grant-in-aid.

The paper said Kenneth Butch Henry, a quarterback at Greensboro's Dudley Negro High School, has been accepted for admission.

He would be the second Negro to compete in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Darryl Hill played football at Maryland last fall.

Railroad Makes Bid To Head Off Strike

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—The Detroit & Toledo Shore Line Railroad Co. has invoked services of the National Mediation Board in an attempt to head off a strike scheduled for 6:30 a.m. Friday by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The walkout schedule was announced here Wednesday by Frank Collin, a brotherhood vice president, who accused the railroad of arbitrary imposition of new rules and changes in working conditions. He estimated 130 trainmen and yardmen would be involved, but the company said the union represents only 70.

1932 Packard May Steal Classic Automobile Show

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—If there was anything they didn't need, said Richard Dewey's wife, it was another old Packard. They already had six.

And only a four-car garage. But there was this 1932 Packard Twin-Six sports Phaeton sitting up on blocks in the garage down the street, and really they don't make them like that any more.

The fellow who owned it had gone out to California and wouldn't answer his mail, but eventually Dewey won both the owner and his own wife around, and added the car to his collection.

Dewey, who is head of the sociology department at the University of New Hampshire, drove the car through Times Square Wednesday on the way to the International Automobile Show where it will be displayed along with 15 other classic automobiles, beginning Saturday.

The Packard is one of 16 cars voted as the most significant mileposts in the history of the U.S. automobile. The magazine Sports Illustrated collected the 16 from around the country, and will sponsor the exhibit.

They range in age from a 1902 Rambler to a 1955 Thunderbird. Dewey drove the 1932 Packard down to New York from Durham, N.H., about 280 miles, in six hours.

Dewey has no trouble with people zipping past him on the highway. His 12-cylinder beauty, with the original motor almost intact, can keep up. In fact, he has had a flat tire while doing 85.

And to answer the other question he is asked most often, he paid $2,500 for the car two years ago—a steal—and has been offered $10,000.

"It's worth more than that," he said. "But I don't want to sell it. My whole family enjoys it. My wife used to be known for her cooking. Now she is known as the woman who can park a 1932 Packard. It is a fun car. I don't want it in some museum."

Besides, Dewey says, you meet such interesting people when you own a classic car. Dewey first became interested in classic cars in 1958, when he was at the University of Illinois.

"Our son Keith was getting old enough for a car, he's 21 now, and we thought if he had something worth taking care of, he wouldn't hot rod it around. We bought a 1940 Packard. It cost $125, and then we discovered that we had a classic."

"A classic is a car recognized by the Classic Club for unusual and attractive design. They accept only cars in the 1925 to 1942 period, except for the 1946 and 1947 Lincolns."

"Once we got hooked on classics — and let's face it, I'm biased towards Packards — we eventually got up to seven Packards. We have only three now, including the 1932 Phaeton."

Hill Rise, Dancer Set To Duel In Blue Grass

By KESLO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Hill Rise and Northern Dancer, the early favorites for the Kentucky Derby, probably will get a chance to find out which is the best horse 10 days before the classic Run for the Roses.

Bill Finnegan, who trains Hill Rise, indicated Thursday he is pointing the El Peco Ranch colt for the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland and an early showdown with Northern Dancer, the even-money favorite to win Saturday's Florida Derby.

Horation Luro, who trains Dancer, has said he would send the colt in the 1 1/2-mile event at Keeneland.

"We'll just separate the men from the boys then," Finnegan said, adding that if Hill Rise went in the Blue Grass he would not have a race over the Churchill Downs surface before the Derby.

The Blue Grass, at 1 1/2 miles is the last distance prep for the Derby and will be run April 23.

The Derby is May 2. Hill Rise, who Finnegan had considered starting on Saturday's opening-day program at Keeneland, worked out six furlongs in about 1:15 Wednesday. The colt was never pressed and was caught by some clockers in 1:14 3/5.

Finnegan said he presently plans to start Hill Rise April 11 in a 6 1/2-furlong sprint—the $7,500 Spendthrift Purse for 3-year-olds. If the colt, son of Hillary Red Charm, starts April 11, then he will definitely go in the Blue Grass.

The presence of both Hill Rise and Northern Dancer in the Blue Grass would sharply cut the starting field in that race. As few as five could start. Barring mishap, those considered probable starters are T.A. Grissom's Susan's Gent, Calumet Farm's Ky. Pioneer, Darby Dan Farm's Saltville, Hill Rise and Northern Dancer.

Henpecked

★ ★ ★ When Can A Man Tell He Is? ★ ★ ★

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"Am I henpecked? How can a man tell if he is henpecked?"

A young fellow now at the double harness routine asked me these questions recently.

They rather took me aback—they seemed so old-fashioned. It was almost as if someone had suddenly inquired seriously "Do you favor a protective tariff on high-button shoes?"

American wives, by and large tend to feel rather complacent to feel that they allow their husbands a pretty long leash. European men and women, on the other hand, are convinced that all American husbands are abject slaves of their wives.

The truth probably lies pretty well in between, although no one can question the rise of feminine authority in this country. This is shown by the widespread decline in wife-beating, now a vanished art.

In most households today a man would even rather try to whip his teen-age kids than risk a right to his queen bee's chin.

But there are positive ways to tell how henpecked a husband is. Here's a guide. He is more of a mouse than a man if—

He never cashes his own paycheck.

Four or more days out of the week he has to ask her for lunch money before leaving for work.

When he is explaining at a cocktail party the difference between nuclear fission and fusion she interrupts and says, "That's not it at all—you've got it backward."

She keeps the car keys in her purse, but allows him to have a photo of her in his wallet.

The clerk at the supermarket hands him the sack of groceries to carry—but looks to her to pay the bill.

When Mama tells the kids they can't do something, they never think to ask Papa to overrule her verdict.

It is supposed to be his bathroom, but there are always her nylon stockings hung up to dry.

The friends he used to have never call anymore; her old friends are now the family chums.

His mother-in-law visits at the house regularly; her mother-in-law is lucky to get a nickel card from them at Christmas.

If his watch says it is 8 o'clock, and it is 8:05 by her watch, he sets his watch up five minutes.

When they are going out, she no longer has to ask him to zip up the back of her dress. He's there, ready and waiting.

Everybody says what a happy well-adjusted couple they are because they never seem to raise a voice to each other, let alone quarrel.

Actually what we have here, however, is a henpecked husband turned into one of life's losers by being married to a woman with winning ways.

JP Promises Drunk An Absentee Ballot

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Walter Lagergren imposed a 60-day jail sentence on Emmett Covan on a charge of public drunkenness.

Six Schools Represented On All W. Va

BECKLEY (AP)—The 1964 All-West Virginia College Conference basketball team is composed of players from six state colleges and features a combined shooting percentage of 51.9 per cent.

West Virginia Tech and West Virginia Wesleyan each landed two players on the squad chosen by league coaches and announced Wednesday by conference secretary George Springer.

Tech's Charles Kelly was picked for the team for the third straight year, along with his sophomore teammate Mike Barrett.

Other selections for the eight-man unit which averages slightly more than 6-feet-3 were Fred Suder and Mickey Reeves, both of Wesleyan; Jerry Moore of Morris Harvey, Floyd Shuler of West Liberty and John Gracon of Salem.

The Bobcats Reeves is the deadliest shooter of the team with a 59.8 field goal percentage for the past season, while Morris Harvey's Moore was the top individual scorer in the conference with a 25.9 point average in 31 games.

The all-conference second team includes Wayman Everly of Shepherd, Ken Kennedy of Tech, Dave Kirk of Davis & Elkins, Corky Korth of Wheeling, Dave Miller of Fairmont, Robby Rodes of Concord, Ted Shepherd of Concord and Joe Watson of West Virginia State.

Board Chairman And Aide Retire At Westinghouse

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s board chairman Gwilym A. Price and vice chairman John K. Hodnette announced their retirements Wednesday following the annual stockholders meeting.

Price, 68, and Hodnette, 62, disclosed their plans at a board of directors meeting. The retirements were effective immediately. Both will continue as directors.

Donald C. Burnham, 49, president of the Pittsburgh-based firm, will assume their duties. The offices of board chairman and vice chairman were discontinued.

Price said in a statement that the company decided to do away with the two offices in recognition of Burnham's organization of management since Burnham became president of the corporation.

During the stockholders meeting Burnham said that sales gains are anticipated in almost all of the markets served by Westinghouse.

He predicted improvement in the last two quarters of this year with a resultant increase in over-all results beyond 1963.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN
Don't Give Up, Compliments Will Come

"I am only 26 years old. I do so want to restore my slim good looks and good feeling. I am ashamed of myself! I want to feel proud of myself. I have lost, but even with 12 pounds off there is no apparent change and my clothes fit a b o u t the same. I am desperately in need of encouragement," a young mother writes.

This is a familiar theme in the letters. In the beginning, when the going is tough, you yearn for visible signs of progress. Unhappily, it's during this early stage when there are no noticeable signs, and no rewarding compliments.

HOLD ON to this promise: With another six to eight pounds off, you'll start to feel slimmer, and you'll begin to get a compliment here and there. As a rule, when you weigh 50 pounds too much, you have to take off about 20 pounds before your friends notice the difference.

To continue with her letter: "My goal is to lose 50 pounds in six months. I had three children in three years and, since I am short, it was, oh, so easy to gain."

"I took two days to map out my strategy and plan a sensible way to diet. This dieting is not easy! I eat high protein foods, live by the calorie chart, and do not exceed 1200 calories per day. . . sometimes less. I do drink plenty of water. Is this bad? Also, I exercise faithfully, daily. Is it wise to exercise all through the diet, or should one just exercise when it gets harder to lose weight? If I continue my diet and exercise, will I lose the excess fat in six months? At times I almost feel like giving up!" she concluded.

Don't give up now! You really are on the healthy road to fewer pounds. You are doing everything right. Drink plenty of water between meals. Restrict your mealtime liquids to one cup or glass.

EXERCISE DAILY — It is your beauty measure. To stir up interest, exercise to music and chant a word picture. When you stretch and bend to slim the waist, . . . get the feeling of slimmness in the middle as you chant, "Bending makes for a willowy waist." Paint your own word picture and act to make it come true. Also, this picture plan helps you to put the exercise action smack through the part you are aiming to slim.

Remember, too, that by holding the muscle contraction you increase muscle tone. Stretch up, bend to the side. . . h-o-l-d for six seconds. Repeat. By this plan you can lessen the number of repetitions, for holding is toning.

Now that spring has arrived, add a straight-away two-mile walk to your routine. Walking burns calories and brings a fine feeling. Report again. Meanwhile, continue confidently in the direction of your dream figure.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Slim Hips In A Hurry and For A Slimmer Midriff. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Ceremony Set At Children's Home Tract

Ground - breaking for the new Hancock County Children's Home was scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday after the Board of Trustees formally entered into a contract with the Floyd C. Cox Co. of East Liverpool at a special meeting Wednesday night at the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

The ceremony will be held at the site adjacent to the present farm home on Gas Valley Rd. near Pughtown, William C. Graham, chairman, said.

Graham said the board signed the $180,979 contract with Cox, an increase of $1,100 over the initial price because of changes in partitions and windows ordered by the state fire marshal's office.

The board had voted March 23 to award the contracts to Cox for the general construction, heating, plumbing, electrical, installation of a water tank and a fire alarm system for the dormitory - style building for 100 youngsters.

Cox advised the board that he would sub-let the electrical work to Sayre Electric and the heating and plumbing to Hall Plumbing & Heating Co., both of East Liverpool.

Speaker Will Air Water Fluorides At Lions Session

A talk of fluoridating the city's water supply will be given by Dr. Myer Alpern, program chairman, at the meeting of the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Javits Denies GOP Senators Will Back 'Weak' Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp denial that Republican senators will back "weakening amendments" to the controversial civil rights bill came today from Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

The New York Republican, a leader in the bipartisan group now trying to push the House-passed measure through the Senate, flatly denied reports "that Republicans in the Senate will take this administration 'off the hook' by insisting on certain amendments as the price for enactment of the bill."

With debate now in its 20th day and showdown decisions apparently far in the future, Javits and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., teamed up to explain and support the "public facilities" section of the complex measure.

This part of the bill aims at making it easier to end racial discrimination in parks, golf courses, swimming pools, art museums and other government owned or operated facilities.

Supreme Court decisions and existing federal laws now ban such discrimination but court tests or similar action to bring compliance now must be started and usually financed by individuals or groups.

Senators got advance notice Wednesday that the daily session will lengthen next week.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., indicated that supporters of the bill have mapped a program of bipartisan speeches in support of it running through April 15 and probably beyond.

And he and other senators backing the bill told a leadership conference of civil rights supporters Wednesday that they now lack the 67 votes required to clamp a limit on Senate debate and force voting.

Sen. Dodd Urges More Help For Cuba Freedom Fighters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., today demanded "open and increasing assistance" to Cuban freedom fighters.

Dodd, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, predicted that in the not too distant future Cuba "will be the scene of another popular revolt against Communist bestiality" and declared:

"And on the day when the pent-up wrath of the Cuban people explodes, our action or inaction may make the difference between victory or defeat."

Without mentioning Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dodd took sharp issue with Fulbright's Senate speech last week urging a change in Cuban policy.

Fulbright suggested that Fidel Castro's Cuba should be looked upon as "a distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger."

While Fulbright said Castro communism posed a "grave threat" to other Latin-American nations, he contended this could be dealt with by prompt and vigorous use of antiaggression machinery of the Organization of American States.

Dodd described as "a fallacy of the do-nothing policy" any argument that "the Castro regime, while admittedly a nuisance, does not pose any mortal threat to our security."

Industry Council 9 More Tracts Listed Given Road Data

Ross Strohm, roads chairman, reported at a meeting of Industry Borough Council Wednesday night that grading and slagging of several rural roads is under way.

Homer Paul, president, instructed the roads committee to meet with Borough Engineer Al Campbell for a survey of borough roads to determine those to be slated for permanent improvements.

Mayor W. B. MacBride reported that the police car traveled 1,405 miles during March and that the department received 18 complaints.

James Muns, finance chairman, reported the audit of the books has been completed. Bills were ordered paid. Next regular meeting is set May 6.

Motorists Given Reminder To Use Headlights

Area motorists were reminded today by Sgt. R. J. Rizzo of the Lisbon State Highway Patrol barracks that headlights, not parking lights, are required during the morning and evening twilight hours.

Ohio law requires that headlights be used during the time from one-half hour after sunset to one-half before sunrise and whenever visibility is reduced to less than 500 feet.

Sgt. Rizzo said that with the daylight hours growing longer, it appears that more motorists are driving with only parking lights.

Twilight hours are the more dangerous times of day in traffic. Headlights help drivers to see better at these times.

Sgt. Rizzo warned that motorists who fail to comply with the headlight regulation will be stopped.

"Play it safe by turning on your headlights and not parking lights whenever there is reduced visibility for any reason," the sergeant urged.

College In Florida Has Dropout Problem

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miami-Dade Junior College has a "dropout" problem.

More than 1,500 students have enrolled in the college's data processing program, started in 1960. Only one has completed the two-year course.

It's not a question of flunking. The students are too successful.

"They take five or six of the courses and then are grabbed off by industry," said President Peter Masiko Jr. today.

A higher average number of persons today uses the family car on pleasure and vacation trips than at any other time. While average occupancy on all auto trips is 1.8 persons, it is 2.6 on pleasure trips and jumps to 2.9 on vacations.

East Firemen Buy Radios

The Liverpool Township East volunteer firemen placed orders for two "walkie - talkies" at their meeting, Wednesday night at the Dixonville station. The equipment will be purchased from the Blackmore Radio & TV of Smiths Ferry.

The activity report for March showed firemen answered six calls, consisting of two fires and four emergency runs. One of the calls was to pump out a flooded basement, and it was pointed out this can extinguish a gas appliance and cause explosion or electrical shock hazards.

Brush fires were extinguished on Clark St. and Oakland Ave. Ext. and residents were reminded that they should contact Fire Warden Harry Smith on Macrum St. for a burning permit.

Three dealers from the area demonstrated pickup trucks for the department, which may purchase one.

It was announced that the Columbiana County Firemen's Association will meet at the Dixonville station Aug. 19 when foam - type fire fighting equipment will be demonstrated.

Next meeting of the East department will be April 15, with a training session planned.

Major Breakthrough

Man Can Live Indefinitely In Space, Tests Prove

SEATTLE (AP)—Thirty days of confinement in a sealed chamber for five men have led to a "major breakthrough" in research into whether American astronauts can live indefinitely in the hostile environment of space.

"We are on the threshold of being able to sustain men in outer space for as long as we need," said Dr. Eugene B. Konecni, director of biotechnology and human research for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's office of advanced research and technology, after the men emerged.

"The basic principles and techniques of life-support systems have been proved workable and sound. Now we refine and advance them," he said. "We are already looking and preparing far beyond."

Elect New President

Miss Mabel Bendette of Malvern was named president of the 18th District Postmasters Association at a meeting Wednesday night in St. Clairsville.

She replaces Tom Kinsey, Augusta postmaster, who has been ill.

Howard McCracken of Zanesville, president of the state organization, and Inspector Andrew Eberhart of Steubenville spoke along with Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, vice president of the state organization, who discussed the state convention scheduled May 6-9 in Cleveland. Brown was accompanied by his wife.

A panel discussion was held on postal problems. A card was sent to Genevieve Karaffa, Summitville postmistress, who underwent an operation in Detroit. Carroll County postmasters will be host at the June meeting at the Yacht Club at Atwood Lake.

Bridge Beautification

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The Michigan State Highway Department has under consideration a plan for painting the state's bridges maroon, foliage green, beige, rose, cinnamon, and light green. The reason: simply to make the bridges more attractive.

Refinements and further advancements are needed, but the basic principles and techniques for survival outside the earth's atmosphere were found to be sound.

NASA, which contracted with the Boeing Co. for the test, called it "a major breakthrough."

When the men emerged from their cramped quarters Wednesday, first thoughts were for wives, families and food, in that order.

Since March 2 they had lived, slept and eaten under space conditions, except for weightlessness, in a windowless, L-shaped chamber.

The air they breathed was constantly restored by a chemical. Water they drank and washed with was reclaimed from body wastes, sink drainings and condensations. Food was freeze-fried and restored by adding water.

When the crew stepped out, the three married men quickly scooped up their wives in tight embraces. The two others blinked and grinned.

Lt. Cmdr. Donald E. Robinson, 33, the crew's medical officer from Pensacola, Fla., said the first thing he wanted was "a steak three inches thick with a green salad."

Roger Barnicki, 28, of Edwards Air Force Base, headed the crew. Others, besides Robinson, were three Boeing men, Ralvan Welker, 36, of Woodinville, Wash., and Warren Swenson, 26, and Paul Trush, 26, both of Seattle.

President's Firm Against Bill Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson apparently is giving his legislative lieutenants little room to maneuver toward any compromise that might insure Senate passage of the civil rights bill.

The President was described by close associates today as being hard-rock firm against any changes in the House - passed measure. They said he has maintained this attitude in private strategy conferences as well as in his public statements.

Johnson, an expert on how to get things done in the Senate, is said to have told the bill's managers they should plan for eventual around-the-clock sessions in an attempt to break a Southern filibuster.

The President reportedly has little hope that Dixie opponents will ever permit passage of the legislation without the invoking of the cloture rule. This means that two-thirds of those voting would have to approve applying a debate limitation.

Therein lies the dilemma of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill, and the Democrats and Republicans who are backing his efforts to bring it to a vote.

There is no practical way - and Humphrey is the first to admit it - of getting the necessary two-thirds vote unless Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is willing to go along.

Dirksen wants some changes in vital sections of the bill. He has said he will propose about a dozen amendments to the provision dealing with fair employment practices but has no wish to "emasculate" it.

He also is expected to offer a substitute to a section banning racial discrimination in hotels, motels, restaurants, theaters, gas stations and sports stadiums. He has not spelled out his proposal yet.

Dirksen said he has substantial Republican support for efforts to change the fair employment section. He has not tested the GOP temper on the public accommodations section.

But the Republican leader has predicted flatly that before any bill is passed it will be amended. He has left the impression that he and Republicans who follow him on the matter will not be willing to support cloture unless it is.

If all senators were present, approval of 67 would be needed to curb a filibuster. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Wednesday proponents can rally only 58 votes at this time.

Pughtown Group Discusses Foods

"Wise Use of Convenient Food" was the program topic of Mrs. Oscar Stewart at the meeting of the Fairview Farm Women's Club of Pughtown Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Clayton Conkle near Hooks town.

Mrs. Charles Mills, president, conducted business meeting when a $3 contribution was made to the Red Cross and a miscellaneous sale netted $2.20 for the project fund. Committee reports were received and cards sent to ill members.

Devotions with Mrs. John Rice in charge included an Easter reading by Mrs. Mills and prayer by Mrs. Hilary Johnston.

Lunch was served 13 by Mrs. Conkle and Mrs. Fred Hobbs.

Leaves For U.S.

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Economics Minister Kurt Schmuck left today for talks in Washington in preparation for a round of talks on lowering of international trade barriers.

Rockefeller Jabs Lodge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has become the chief target of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the battle for the Republican nomination for president.

Brushing aside Lodge's repeated statements that he is not a candidate and does not intend to become one, Rockefeller argued that Lodge "is running and running hard from the privileged sanctuary of diplomatic immunity."

The New York governor maintained in an interview Wednesday that Lodge, U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, was "a part of the Democratic administration and he is a candidate for the GOP nomination who is working from out there very hard."

The statements were Rockefeller's sharpest criticism to date of the ambassador.

By his remarks, Rockefeller not only challenged Lodge's denial of candidacy but also was in conflict with President Johnson, who has accepted the ambassador's statement that he is not a candidate.

Rockefeller said Wednesday that Lodge should resign as ambassador and return to the United States to participate in the contest for the GOP nomination. Lodge has become one of the top prospects by virtue of his surprisingly strong write-in victory in the New Hampshire primary March 10.

Legion Appeals For Stamps For Orphan's Band

American Legion Post 4 has issued an appeal for trading stamps to help outfit an orphan's band in new uniforms.

H. E. Taylor, adjutant of the downtown post, said posts throughout the state will participate in the collection on behalf of the band at the Ohio Soldiers & Sailors Orphans Home at Sandusky.

The band of 110 musicians is using uniforms provided 24 years ago by the Ohio Legion.

Taylor said a receptacle has been placed in Isaly's Dairy in which residents may deposit books of trading stamps of any type to be converted into funds for the uniforms. The Legion said one stamp firm will handle the project but any brand may be donated.

Women's Groups To Hold Meetings

LISBON — Three women's home demonstration groups have scheduled meetings next Wednesday and Thursday.

A program on "Cake Decorating" will be presented for the Elkrum Township group Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 2:45 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Leland Baker, northwest of Elkton.

A program on "Braiding Rugs" will be presented at the Perry Township group Wednesday from noon to 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Leonard Zarcchuk, 1346 Eastview Dr., Salem.

A film on "Emergency Preparedness" will be presented for the Beaver Local group Thursday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the home of Mary Thompson at Vernon Dell Garden Center near Calcutta.

Heart Attack Fatal

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—J. Clare George, 71, editor emeritus of the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was editor of the Chronicle - Telegram from 1925 until his retirement in 1960 and had been a consultant with the newspaper for the last four years.

Junior Editors Quiz on
ZIP CODE

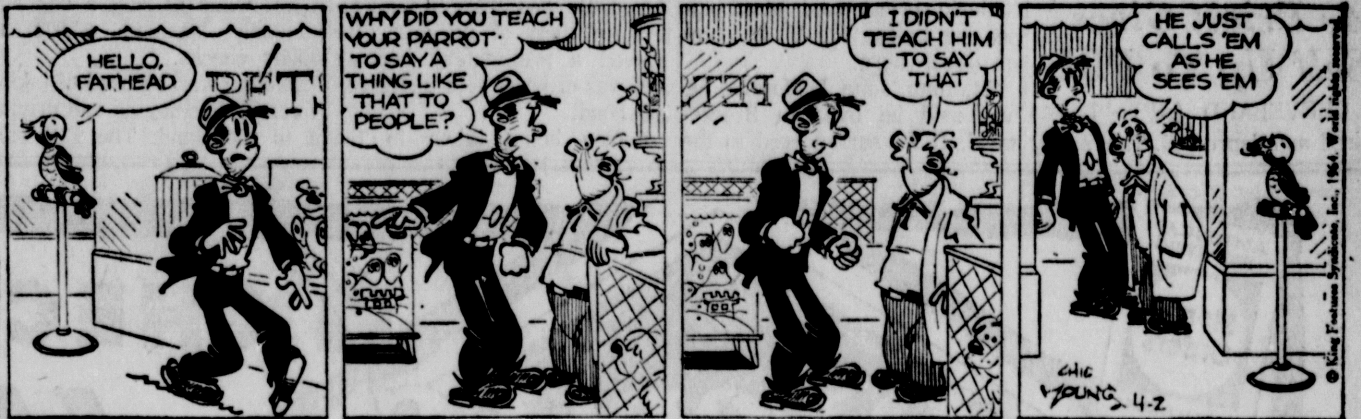

QUESTION: Why the "zip" in "zip code"?

ANSWER: Postal service is very important to the citizens of our country for in our complex society we all need to communicate with each other. The postal service has worked out many ways to speed letters for everyone's benefit, one such way being the use of numbers. If a letter is addressed to 'New York 20,' the clerk knows the general area of the city it is to go to. The zip code is the latest number improvement. "Zip" stands for "Zoning Improvement Plan." There are always five digits to a zip number. The one on the left is for large areas; for example, 1 covers New York State and Pennsylvania. The next two numbers mean a certain section of this area, and the last two to the right, mean a community within the section. If your zip code was 12551, 25 would mean the Poughkeepsie-Newburgh section in New York State, and 51 would show you were in the City of Newburgh. Seeing this number, postal clerks know exactly where to put the letter so that it may move the fastest. It is expected that electronic machines will soon be able to read the zip numbers and sort the mail automatically.

FOR YOU TO DO: You can help the postal service if you will memorize your zip number and put it under your return address on the upper left of your letters — also, of course, adding the zip number to the person's address to whom you are writing, if you know it.

Man Who Posed As Priest Gives Self Up To FBI

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I was tired and depressed. That's why

I gave myself up," a man dressed in the garb of a Roman Catholic priest said after appearing before the U. S. commissioner here.

The man, John J. Monroe, 31, who said he lived in Breezewood, N.Y., surrendered to the FBI Wednesday and was taken before Commissioner Clifford E. Bruce. He was charged with interstate theft of an auto. He waived a preliminary hearing and was ordered held under $2,500 bond.

Before being taken to the county jail, Monroe admitted to newsmen he masqueraded as a priest while driving a car and allegedly cashing $3,500 in phony checks.

Monroe was accused of taking a car in Washington and driving it to Cleveland. The FBI said wearing the clerical garb helped him get the car from a rental agency.

Conductor Collapses And Falls Six Feet

ROME (AP) — Conductor Pierre Monteux collapsed and fell six feet from the podium Wednesday night while conducting Ravel's "Pavane for a Dead Princess" in Rome's Santa Cecilia Auditorium.

The conductor, who will be 89 on Saturday, slipped between guard rails that had been placed around the podium for landing on his left shoulder and his protection.
